LT. HAMMOND BARNES BACK FROM FRANCE

Lieut. Hammond Barnes, son of Henry W. Barnes, president of the Central Savings bank, arrived home yesterday after serving 23 months in the United States army. He was gassed northwest of Verdun, near Montfaucon last September, but shows no ill effects of seven months spent in France.

Lieut. Barnes left Lowell, along with a score of local young men, in May, 1917, and spent three months at the officers' training camp at Plattsburg. He was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry and assigned for duty with the 40th regiment of the Seventy-sixth division at Camp Devens.

LIEUT. HAMMOND BARNES

He went overseas with the 76th in July, 1918, and almost immediately on arrival was transferred to the 29th Infantry, Fourth division.

After some time spent in training areas back of the lines, his division moved up toward the front and went into the St. Mihiel battle as reserve. Lieut. Barnes went into real action near Montfaucon on Sept. 26 and saw severe fighting there for several days. He was gassed on Sept. 29 and sent back to a base hospital for three weeks. He then rejoined his outfit the day before it began to advance into German territory. With the 29th regiment he went about 15 kilometers into Germany and then was ordered back to Bordeaux, the port of embarkation. He sailed from Bordeaux on Jan. 31 and landed in this country at Newport, N. H. He received his discharge at Camp Dix, N. J.

Lieut. Barnes says that the First, 26th, Second and 42nd divisions took the brunt of the American attack, as he saw it. He was in Paris on Nov. 11 when the armistice was signed, and describes it "as a town gone wild."

RELIEF OF NEAR EAST

Tag Day For People of Syria and Armenia Was Success Here

With the count of ten collection boxes still to be added, yesterday's tag day for the relief of the people of Syria and Armenia resulted in the sum of approximately $875. This is most gratifying to the Near East campaign workers, as was the entire product of yesterday's work, including team reports and theatre contributions. Team contributions amounted to $500, while the suburban towns reported $322. Lowell is still about $20,000 shy of the quota for the district, but as the campaign goes on unabated this week it is confidently believed that the desired total will be obtained next Saturday evening, when the workers meet in Memorial hall.

Enthusiasm was the keynote of last night's meeting and it grew by leaps and bounds as the totals were announced by team captains and workers. More money was reported than at any previous meeting and indications of enhanced interest were evident on all sides.

After the supper last evening, Otto Hoekmeyer introduced Mrs. H. S. Enrich as the speaker. She has spoken before in the present campaign and once again her talk was inspiring and of much interest. Mrs. Enrich spent 10 years as a missionary of the American board in Mesopotamia, and therefore, knows intimately of the people who are in dire need at the present time.

The receipts from the theatres yesterday follow: Keith's, $62.88; Merrimack, $58.45; Strand, $33.85; Jewel, $8.71; Opera House, $11.55; Owl, $25, making a total of $255.11. Of the city teams reporting last night, Team A had the banner total of $745, and thereby making its grand total to $1549.69. St. Anne's church still leads in total with an amount of $1975, with the First Congregational church second, with $1932.

The towns reported as follows: Billerica, $643; Chelmsford, $56; Dracut, $89; Groton, $35; Littleton, $255; Popponesset, $48; Tewksbury, $295; Westford, $200; and Tyngsboro, $120.

WESTFORD BOY IS CITED FOR BRAVERY

In the list of American soldiers whose names are cited today by the war department for valiant and conspicuous bravery while in action on the field of honor in France, occurs the name of Sergt. Leroy A. Ricknell of Westford.

Sergt. Ricknell it seems has been connected with the Ninth Machine Gun battalion. The act for which he wins this exceedingly great honor is noted by the war department as follows:

"For extraordinary heroism in action during the Argonne-Meuse operations Oct. 3-26, 1918. With no intimate support his platoon withstood an enemy attack for two days during which time two of his men and one gun were captured. He planned and carried out a counter attack, using in part captured enemy guns and succeeded in releasing not only his own men but captured 50 prisoners."

Sergt. Ricknell's home address is Main street, Westford, where his father, Charles Ricknell, lives.

FOR AMERICANIZATION

Portuguese Community Hold
Enthusiastic Meeting at
Pearl of Ocean Club

An enthusiastic meeting of the Portuguese community in the interest of Americanization was held at the Pearl of the Ocean Club Sunday afternoon. The members of the committee called to discuss the subject of the Portuguese people for about 100 were present, including a number of women.

The meeting was presided over by Manuel B. Sousa, a member of the executive committee on Americanization of the board of trade, and the speakers were J. L. Sullivan, director of the evening schools, Americanization work, who spoke on the opportunities offered by the city for attending the classes in English; John D. O'Rourke, secretary of the board of trade, who spoke on the aims and ideals proposed by the board of trade in this movement; Miss Catherine Tobin, a local teacher, who appealed for the attendance of the Portuguese women at these classes; and Richard Mahoney, a Lowell young man who spoke in Portuguese to the assembly. Mr. Mahoney was very favorably received and proved to be a very dexterous speaker.

The principal speaker of the meeting was E. Joseph O'Rourke, sub-master of the Boston school of Boston, who delivered a very stirring address in the Portuguese tongue. Mr. O'Rourke came to this country as a boy and received his education in the schools of this country. Mr. O'Rourke began his address by referring to Washington's birthday celebration and the reason therefor, also the celebration in Boston on President Wilson's arrival from Europe and the subject of the president's trip. He dwelt upon the past history of Portugal and spoke of such men as Vasco da Gama, Cabral, Soares, Amerigo Vesputi, Magellan and Columbus at the court of Portugal. He referred to the time when Lisbon was the capital of the world; when the riches of the orient and the civilized world were hers; he spoke of her colonies and the position she took regarding slavery; he referred to the literature of Portugal, speaking of Camoes, the poet, and Baras. He then depicted the Portuguese immigrants arriving in America and the feelings that came to their hearts when they saw the statue of Liberty. He told of the changed conditions they found here and the period of disillusionment that followed as a natural consequence. He dwelt upon the work of the socialists in trying to ferment trouble among the Portuguese people and the hardships the Portuguese people endured. He maintained that the moral standard and industry of the Portuguese people were appreciated by the community and the country. He praised the work that they did for the Red Cross, the Liberty loans and the enlistment of the Portuguese boys in the world war fighting shoulder to shoulder, enduring the hardships of the battlefield, to safeguard the traditions of the glorious history of America.

The opportunities offered by this country and particularly by Lowell to embrace education by the splendid night schools maintained by the city were very ably developed; there were no race or creed distinctions and each person had the opportunity to establish himself solidly in the community. Mr. O'Rourke ended his inspiring address by the following appeal:

"America, the wonderful, loving mother, invites you to take your place in the ranks of citizenship. She offers you the traditions of her glorious past, the enjoyment of her wonderful future. Opening wide her arms to receive you, she says: 'Come!'"

At the present time there are 18 Portuguese adults in classes and at the meeting held Sunday afternoon 37 who could not speak the English language promised to become students.

ST. MICHAEL'S WOMEN
HOSTS FOR SOLDIERS

At the regular Sunday morning breakfast served to soldiers and sailors spending the week end in Lowell, at the K. of C. headquarters, Associate building, the food and service were supplied by the Catholic Women's League of St. Michael's church.

Mrs. George E. Keefe and Miss Margaret McCluskey supervised the serving of the breakfast which was partaken of by about 200 fighters. The young women who acted as waitresses were: Mrs. Everett Gurney, Misses Catherine Kelly, Nellie M. Riley, Rose Boucke, Alice Gaudin, Mary Reed, Mary Nersey, Louise Katherine and Anna Hagan, Margaret Murphy, Teresa O'Grady, Rita Roscoe, Helen McDonald, Loretta Riddy, Zita Canina, Grace Holmes, Anna Callery, Mrs. John J. Coughlin, Mary Gill, Madeline Nersey, Mary Roscoe, Kitty Fleming, Madeline Dahan, Sadie Smith, Rose Heath, Kitty Grant, Agnes Fleming, Mrs. T. R. Delaney, Lena Canning, Veronica Stewart, Mary Farrell, Mabel Connor, Catherine McDonald, Vera Frawley, Alice M. Mawn and Rose Roscoe.

A social hour was enjoyed after the breakfast with sales by Miss Madeline Holland. Some of the boys from Camp Devens participated, among them were John O'Rourke, Holyoke, Mass., Lawrence Cavanaugh, Helen McDonald and Anna Callery were the accompanists.

INCOME TAX PAYMENTS
EARLY THIS YEAR

Income tax payments this year are due earlier than ever before. The first payment date is March 15th, simultaneous with the final due date of the return required by the new revenue law.

"File and Pay by March 15th" is the new slogan of the internal revenue bureau. Collector John F. Malley is preparing to handle the flood of income tax payments that will reach him between now and the close of business on Saturday, March 15th.

"Early payment of income taxes is of the utmost importance in meeting the treasury's debts brought about by the war," explains Collector Malley. "The new law makes March 15th as the first payment date because there are large obligations outstanding in the form of certificates of indebtedness that must be met on that date."

"The earlier payment this year should cause no hardship to taxpayers, who, generally speaking, have anticipated the enactment of the new law and have set aside a reserve from 1918 income to meet the government tax."

"What is needed now is another practical display of that great spirit of co-operation which has carried over the top every big governmental objective that had to do with the winning of the war. The persons and corporations who are called upon by the new law to pay income and war excess profits taxes on 1918 income have a great, vital duty to perform. That it will be done in the thorough American way is a foregone conclusion."

"Every taxpayer who can possibly do so is urged to pay his entire tax when filing his return, on or before March 15th. The installment method, by which one-quarter of the amount may be paid at that time, followed by quarterly payments on June 15th, Sept. 15th and Dec. 15th, is intended for taxpayers whose financing of the tax at one time would tend to upset local financial conditions."

"Don't wait until the final due date, March 15th, for filing your return or paying your tax. Let us eliminate the last minute rush, so far as possible. By evenly distributing this load, between now and March 15th, every taxpayer will have a chance to get any needed advice and aid in determining his liability and preparing his return. The internal revenue bureau has placed its entire energies into meeting the needs of taxpayers in this respect. Also, by distributing the load, the government machinery will be better able to stand the strain that this great effort entails."

"Co-operation is the spirit of the time. It is vital to the income tax. Let us all get together and establish another record for Americanism."

PRICE OF BOOZE SOARS

President's Signing Bill Imposing Liquor Tax Makes
Lowell Business Brisk

Lowell today was in the throes of a liquor rush which would make the ordinary bargain sale on a Saturday night look like a Sunday school picnic, as the result of the tip which has gone out that President Wilson will sign the $6,000,000,000 revenue bill which will send the price of bottled goods to a hitherto unheard of level, making it necessary for thirsty Lowellites to pay nearly double for the principal alcoholic beverages.

So bullish has the wholesale liquor market become that one of the vital ingredients of the most popular cocktails has practically been wiped out of the market. French vermouth, without which the dry Martini and the Bronx are insipid, is hardly to be had at any price.

The feverish buying started early in the week, when one or two of the larger dealers in rum passed the tip out among their friends that "now was the time to buy." Wholesale and retail persons who are used to dispensing liquor on a large scale are letting go all but enough to last them until June 30. After that it will be useless except for exhibition purposes, a reminder of the days that were. They cannot afford to hold any more than they can sell in the last few months of the new revenue bill imposes a tax of $2.20 on ardent spirits.

Gin, which is the base of nearly all cocktails fit to drink, is soaring every minute. Those who have not provided themselves with enough of it to last a reasonable time are out of luck, according to the dealers, for in the next 24 hours gin will skyrocket beyond the reach of any but the most pithoric purses. Many homes are doomed to be without rock-tails from now on and many a dinner that might have been, will be unable to get cranked up.

One wholesaler, speaking on the sudden switch in prices said:

"No, there is no danger of Lowell going dry before its time. There is plenty of liquor and there are plenty of whores, but a man will have to be pretty 'well fixed' from now on if he intends to buy drinks at retail. The only chance for the man with a moderate thirst and a moderate income is to store it up. And there isn't much chance there. Wholesale prices will go skyrocketing the minute the revenue bill is signed and retail prices will double."

A pretty wedding took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Joseph's rectory, when Mr. Barthelme Dubois, a well known young man of this city and Miss Irene Valentine Dupont, a charming young woman of Pawtucketville were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. The bride was handsomely attired in georgette crepe trimmed with pearls and carried a large bouquet of white and pink roses. She was given away by her father, Mr. Anthony Dupont, while the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Philip Dubois. At the close of the ceremony a brief reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 765 Moody street and later the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on an extended wedding trip and upon their return they will make their home in this city. Present at the wedding from out-of-town was a brother of the bride, Mr. Emilien Dupont of Ontario, Canada.

Last Friday evening the bride was tendered a reception at her home by a group of friends, who presented her a handsome boudoir electric lamp. A varied musical program was given and a buffet luncheon was served.

Women Find Clear Skin
In Simple Laxative

A sense of false modesty often prevents women from admitting that many of herills and disorders are due primarily to constipation.

But women who know themselves have learned that headache remedies and beautifiers only cover the trouble but do not dislodge it.

What is needed is a remedy to move the bowels and stir up the torpid liver. An ever-increasing number of sensible women take a small dose of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold by druggists under that name.

It will save a woman from the habitual use of headache remedies, skin lotions and similar makeshifts. Once the bowels are emptied and regulated, the headache and the pimples and blotches disappear. It is the rational, natural method.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin lasts a family a long time, and all will find use for it from time to time. Thoughtful people are never without it in the house.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the war by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 26 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

NOW'S TIME TO REPAIR
FARM IMPLEMENTS

All users of farm implements should anticipate, so far as practicable, the necessity for repairs and replacements sufficiently in advance of the working season to make it possible to put their implements in good working condition before the spring operations begin. This is the gist of a telegram from the secretary of agriculture to E. W. McCullough, of Chicago, secretary of the National Implement and Vehicle association. Secretary Houston's telegram was in response to one from Mr. McCullough advising him that manufacturers of and dealers in all lines of farm operating equipment have agreed, in the interest of economy and conservation, to join in urging farmers to inspect their equipment and to order necessary parts in advance of the time they are needed.

Manufacturers and dealers declare that if they can know sufficiently in advance the needs of the farmers for repair parts, these parts can be supplied when they are needed. If the needs are not known to the manufacturers and dealers until the actual time for use, troublesome and costly delays are likely to be caused—delays that may be felt in decreased production at harvest.

JEWS OF AMERICA
IN THE WAR

That the Jews of America have contributed more than their proportionate quota to the armed forces of the United States in the war is shown in the official "War Record of American Jews" which has just been issued by the American Jewish committee, through its office of war records, at 31 Union square, New York City.

While the report does not pretend to be a complete record of the activities of all Jews who responded to the call of their country it is sufficiently comprehensive to indicate the important part that they played. The total number of Jews in the military and naval service of the United States is estimated at from 155,000 to 200,000, or from four to five per cent. of the total personnel of the American forces at the time the armistice was signed. The Jewish element in the general population of the United States is about three per cent. The Jews of America have therefore, according to these figures, contributed at least one-third more than their proportionate share.

This excess is explained by the presence of about 40,000 Jewish volunteers in the service. Other contributing factors were to be found in the more effective operation of the draft system in the thickly populated urban centers of the north and east, which happen also to be the centres of Jewish population, and in the fact that the majority of exemptions on industrial grounds were chiefly in agriculture, mining and in the metal industries, where Jews are not extensively employed.

The files of the office of Jewish war records already contain over 100,000 individual records, of which about 80,000 have been minutely classified and tabulated. The number of Jewish commissioned officers so far recorded include 5163 in the army, 206 in the navy and 40 in the marine corps. It is probable, however, that these numbers will be more than doubled when the record will finally be completed. The highest rank reached by Jews is that of brigadier-general in the army and marine corps, and rear admiral in the navy.

The readiness of American Jews to fight for their country is shown by the fact that 72 per cent. of those in the army were in the combat branches, while in the army as a whole only about 60 per cent. were in these branches. Their casualties amount to about 10,000, of whom probably 2000 were killed in action. Other evidence of the quality of their courage is found in the long list of citations for valor furnished in the report and in the testimony of commanding officers like General Bell, Lieutenant Colonel Whittrsey and Captain Harrigan, who trained the Jewish recruits in camp or led them in action.

"From information now at hand," concludes the report, which is signed

JOBS FOR SOLDIERS
BECOMING SCARC

Examiner Cronin of the Low United States employment bureau to The Sun yesterday that the situation in Lowell as regards employment of returning soldiers and sailors is far from satisfactory at the present time. The boys are coming home in ever-increasing numbers. The labor conditions in the city are such that work for the returning soldiers and sailors is becoming increasingly difficult to procure.

Mr. Cronin hopes that the manufacturers and others who employ labor will assist him in his task of finding employment for the boys who are willing to give their lives for the cause of democracy, and who are returning from the front with wounds and in many cases, out of funds, at requests that all employers who have positions open will put in touch with him at once in order to spread the word of placing the men in profitable employment.

Prince Leopold Held
GENEVA, Feb. 25.—Prince Leopold, former commander-in-chief of the German army on the Russian front, has been imprisoned at Munich on suspicion of being one of the instigators of the murder of Premier Eisner.

A list of the persons to be assassinated by the reactionaries is said to have been found, and it is asserted that it has been decided to take 20 hostages from among the aristocracy. All the students in the university have been searched.

A provisional ministry has been constituted, consisting of nine members, instead of eight. Among the ministers is Prof. Friedrich Reiser of the University of Munich. It is said the land-

IRISH ENVOY ARRIVES AT
PEACE CONFERENCE

DUBLIN, Feb. 25.—Sean O'Connell, who yesterday presented himself to the peace conference at Paris as an accredited envoy of the Irish government, was formerly in business here, and was secretary of the Gaelic league. He was not prominent in the disorders on Easter Sunday, 1916, but was deported immediately after the government had suppressed that rebellion. He was released late in December, 1918, and was re-arrested in February, 1917, but was not detained long. He was not placed under arrest last May, when many members of his party were placed in jail.

He is a member of the Dublin corporation, and was elected to parliament on the Sinn Féin ticket in the recent general elections. He was a member of the delegation appointed to present the freedom of the city to Pres. Wilson, and when no reply to the invitation to visit Dublin was received from the president, he obtained a passport to go to Paris to inquire why. When he arrived in Paris, he announced that he was a representative of the Irish government and his action was approved by his party. O'Connell was married last year to Miss Mary Ryan, professor of modern languages at the National university.

TYLER PARK SCHOOL PLOT
IS NOT APPROVED

The following letter was today sent by the Lowell school committee to the mayor and the municipal council:

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 21, 1919.
To the Mayor and Municipal Council of the City of Lowell.

In the matter of positions of George P. Putnam et al. and Benjamin A. Stevens, et al., respecting a new school in the Highlands district, the school committee beg leave to state that the petitioners have not convinced them that the former action taken in this matter should be rescinded. They, therefore, re-state their former conviction and recommend that 70,000 square feet of land in the rear of the present Morey school be purchased and an 18-room addition to said school be built thereon as soon as possible.

RICHARD B. WALSH, chairman,
WILLIAM L. GOWLEY,
JULIAN B. KEYES,
WILLIAM R. THOMPSON,
GEN. GARDNER, School Committee.

The Committee's Statement

The following statement has been issued by the committee on their position in the matter of the proposed school in the Highlands:

"In voting to withdraw upon the petition for a new school near Tyler park, in the Highlands, in preference to an addition to the Morey school, the school committee desire to make public the facts upon which they base their action."

"As a matter of location, a new school in the vicinity of Tyler park would be some distance west of the center of school population in the Highlands. The present membership of the six grammar and primary schools making up this district is 2222. Of these, only 119 live west of the line of Foster and Parker streets. The present need is to relieve the overcrowding rather than to develop new territory. Therefore, it seems unreasonable to place the new school to the westward merely to accommodate these 119 pupils."

"It may be said that once the new school is built, the locality will develop faster, and the inequality soon be made up. But it is not certain that the Middlesex Village and Tricent street section will develop faster than that southward of the Morey school toward the Chelmsford line. In any event, it must be some years before development becomes great enough to move the center of school population very much westward of where it now is."

"Of course, some people will be dissatisfied but that is one of the disadvantages of living in the outskirts of the city. The extreme distance from the city line at Middlesex Village to the Morey school does not exceed a mile and two-thirds, no greater than children have to come in other sections in Belvidere and Parkville, for example. Furthermore, no young children are obliged to go this distance, as the school at Middlesex Village takes care of all up to the seventh grade."

"More important than the question of distance or location, however, is that of economy in administration and maintenance. The modern practice is to do away with small buildings and to concentrate in large schools. Aside from the reduction in cost of heating plant, coal and the like, large schools mean better teaching. Pupils can be classified and the energy of the teaching staff can be applied more effectively. Another school in the Highlands would only increase the duplication of effort that already exists because of the location of three grammar schools within a short distance of each other. The committee has come to the conclusion that the policy of erecting new

FOR TEACHERS

Doubling the salaries of teachers within the next five years, and then adding 50 per cent before another 10 years have passed, so that the minimum average salary for teachers will be $1500—this is the program urged by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. Dr. Claxton says:

"It is only by very large increases in pay of teachers that we may hope to improve our schools appreciably. Small increases of 5, 10 or 20 per cent will not avail, for they will not be sufficient to hold in the schools men and women of superior ability."

"Teachers are now paid less for their work than any other class of workers, and the increase in their pay in the last few years has in no wise been in keeping with the increase in pay of other workers, or with the increase in the cost of living. While the cost of living has increased approximately 80 per cent—food, 85 per cent; clothing, 106 per cent; drugs, 103 per cent; fuel, 53 per cent; and house furnishing goods, 75 per cent—the salaries of teachers have increased only about 12 per cent. The purchasing power of the salary of the teacher in our public schools is therefore, only about 63 per cent of what it was four years ago."

"Many of the better teachers are leaving the schools and their places are taken by men and women of less native ability, less education and culture, and less training and experience. Many of the places are not filled at all. As an inevitable result the character of the schools is being lowered just at a time when it ought to be raised to a much higher standard."

"Students now entering the normal schools to prepare for teaching are not of as good quality as they were formerly, which means that the standards of the schools must continue to fall. In some normal schools the enrollment is far less than in former years."

"The only remedy is larger pay for teachers. If school boards, legislators, and county and city councils would immediately announce the policy of doubling the average salary of teachers within the next five years and of adding not less than 50 per cent more within the 10 years following the expiration of this period, so that at the end of 15 years the average salary of public school teachers would be not less than $1500—about one and a half times larger than they receive at present—and then take steps for carrying out this policy, much good would be accomplished thereby at once."

"Such a policy and such a prospect would attract to the schools more men and women of superior ability and would hold them, working contentedly and, therefore, profitably for the children and the public welfare. Such increase in salary should carry with it an increase of not less than 25 per cent in the average length of the school term, which is now less than 160 days."

"To those who are not acquainted with past conditions and who have given the matter no intelligent thought, the increase recommended may seem large, but in fact it is not. It would in most states mean a range of salaries from $1000 to $2000. No person who is fit to take the time and money and opportunity of the children of this great democratic republic for the purpose of fitting them for life, for making a living, and for virtuous citizenship, should be asked to work for less than $1000 a year in any community or in any state. No one who is unworthy of this minimum salary is fitted to do this work and no such person should be permitted to waste the time and money of the children and to fritter away their opportunity for education."

"It is not for the sake of the teachers that this policy is advocated. Schools are not maintained for the benefit of the teachers. If men and women of ability are not willing to teach for the pay offered them they can quit and do something else for a living, as hundreds of thousands of the best do. It is for the sake of the schools, the children and the prosperity of the people and the strength and safety of the nation that the policy is advocated."

SOCIAL AND DANCE AT
ASSOCIATE HALL

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the 101st Regiment held an enjoyable social and dance at Associate hall last evening, the proceeds of which will help to swell the "welcome home" fund which this organization is engaged in raising in anticipation of the time when the boys of the 101st come marching home to their mothers, wives and sweethearts in the Spindle City.

During an intermission a large mahogany clock, which was donated by Mrs. George H. Marshall, was raffled off by Miss Marion Underwood. The timepiece was won by William Hoovey, of 1006 Central street. The proceeds of the raffle will be given to a wounded boy of the 101st who was invalided home from France on account of wounds.

Music was furnished by Minerva Doyle's orchestra and the following committee were mainly responsible for the successful outcome of the event: Mrs. William H. Merrill, chairman of the 101st auxiliary, and general manager of the dance; assistant general manager, Miss Mollie O'Sullivan; floor director, Miss Margaret Tobin; assistant, Miss Mary Flanagan, and aids, members of the auxiliary.

"One year ago in September I was taken down; couldn't eat, sleep or work. The doctors didn't know exactly what was the matter. Some said I had catarrhal gastritis, some said consumption, and others, cancer. Anyway, I was given up to die."

"A friend persuaded me to try Milks Emulsion. In 2 or 3 weeks, the soreness went out of my lungs, the aching pains vanished from between my shoulders, and I began to eat and sleep, and use a little. Also the miserable loneliness feeling began to tear loose, and that heavy weight in the left side of my stomach, that hung like a huge iron ball, disappeared."

"The time I had taken 21 bottles. I could eat anything, sleep like an infant, and the old-time vim and nerve had come back. I felt like I did when I was sixteen."

"The old rule is, get the stomach and bowels working right, and most ailments start to leave. Strength comes back, flesh is regained, and the whole system begins to fight disease. Milks Emulsion is guaranteed, so it costs nothing to try."

"Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, going away with all need of pills and purges. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. ## CRIMINALLY INSANE!

Analyst's Verdict After Studying These Pictures of William II

BY A. E. GELDMAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24.—Through the Washington Bureau of the Newspaper Enterprise association, S. G. Daoud, one of the most prominent psychoanalysts of the United States, has written for The Sun a striking character analysis of ex-Kaiser William II of Germany.

Mr. Daoud has taken a series of the ex-Kaiser's photographs, given them the closest study and drawn from them his deduction that William II is criminally insane. He predicts that if the baby-brother is left alone in his castle, unpunished by the allies, he will either commit suicide or soon die from inaction.

Daoud is a Syrian, possessed in large degree the mystic insight into human character that marks the eastern races. He has written and lectured much on psychological subjects. Until recently he conducted a school of business psychology in Washington, where he was consulted by hundreds of prominent and plain people.

BY S. G. DAUD.

William II, former emperor of Germany, made himself the most despised ruler in history.

Ramesses II may have been as bad. Nero may have been as cruel and atrocious, but no other ruler has earned for himself the hatred of the entire world as has William II.

All the good qualities associated with the German name were sacrificed to gratify the grotesque ambitions of one unman.

The waging of a treacherous war upon unsuspecting humanity, the ravaging of Belgium, the invasion of France, the criminal attacks on defenseless women and children, the burning alive of the aged and the young in Syria and Armenia, the creation of a partnership with an enemy of humanity, the Turk—all are but symptoms of a disease which had been eating into the vitals and mind of a madman who, instead of being a ruler of a great empire, should have been confined to a hospital for the criminally insane.

Looking at the first photograph of the ex-Kaiser, one's impression is that of a person with excessive self-esteem. A really great person never poses. In this pose William looks as if trying to make the impression that he wants you to find in him a great personage, a brave man.

No. 2 shows the same characteristics as No. 1. Strong love of home and Moods of reflection and calm are unknown within such a mask. His features denote a will unbreakable. The absence of perfect poise reveals an unusual degree of positivity—a rigid intensity in both his mental and physical organizations. This shows that he lives practically on his nerves. photographic reproduction; it lacks so much in conformity with all his other portraits, in every one of which the ex-Kaiser's abnormal ego is plainly noticeable.

No. 4. Behold a murderer! This photograph shows that if the ex-Kaiser had been born in an environment of poverty; had he been one of the masses, dependent on his manual labor or his wife for a living, there would have been an crime too atrocious for him to undertake. The receding forehead, the sunken temples, the dominating nose and the receding chin are the features of a born criminal. The high arch in the nose is like that of Pharaoh. William has borrowed some of the traits of Pharaoh—drunkenness for power, particularly.

No. 5 shows a man who is almost like an African savage in fondness for feathers and fancy headgear. The profile again demonstrates the ex-Kaiser's criminal instincts.

No. 6 reveals extreme vanity, noticeable in the Kaiser's persistent efforts to hide his defective arm, as he is doing in this photograph.

No. 7 shows well the Kaiser's wide mouth, indicating that he is a better speaker than listener. The upper lip shows extreme sensitiveness. The lower lip considerable warmth of love and passion, but not carried to an extreme. The closed lips, indicating hardness, are merely a part of his pose. In this photograph, as in No. 4, while his lips are tightly closed, his jaws are open.

Wearing his mustache turned up at the familiar angle demonstrates vanity. The natural growth of the mustache is down, and a man who trains it to grow up shows conceit.

No. 8 shows most strikingly the drooping eyes; a clear sign of trickery and cunning. The fact that his ears are even with his eyes is another indication of cunning. The normal man's ears is a trifle higher than his eyes. The full lower jaw and the high cheek bone show pugnacity, as well as fondness for good things of eat.

No. 9 (left) greatly from photograph No. 4. Yet they are the same man at different ages. Circumstances, mode of life, and other conditions have brought out in No. 4 the qualities within the mask of No. 9.

No. 10 with closely-set eyes, together with the narrow nose, and the high cheeks apparent in Nos. 1 and 4, indicates a most vicious temper if aroused.

All these photographs clearly demonstrate the ex-Kaiser to be a megalomaniac, who ought to have been confined in an asylum for the criminally insane. What he has accomplished because he was not so confined, the whole world knows.

If the ex-Kaiser were to be let alone, his power lost forever; if he were not punished by the allies, his insanity might take on a different form, and he would become a raving maniac.

There is no doubt in my mind that if he is permitted to remain in Holland he will either commit suicide or die of grief and self-commiseration. He cannot live unless wielding power.

NEED HAVE NO FEAR OF BOLSHEVIKI CAMPAIGN

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 25.—"People of America or any other real democracy need have no fear of the Bolsheviki campaign being waged throughout the world," said Arthur Bullard, a representative of the committee on public information who was here today on his way from Vladivostok to Washington.

"Bolshevism," he continued, "can never thrive except in a state where the people are pitifully oppressed and where the masses have no other hope of righting their wrongs."

No Massacre in Moscow

He upheld the testimony of John Reed, writer and socialist, given recently before the senate committee investigating lawless propaganda in this country that there had been no massacre in Moscow during the Red's stay there.

"Red left Moscow early in 1918," said Mr. Bullard. "I was there several months after his departure. There is no question he is right in stating there were no massacres up to that time, but I am convinced there were many innocent people murdered later in the name of the government."

He expressed the belief that the real democratic people of Russia finally would control the situation.

ENTERTAINERS FOR CAMP DEVENS

More than a score of entertainers have volunteered their services to the war activities secretary of Lowell council 72, K. of C., to go to Camp Devens to furnish entertainment for the wounded soldiers.

These offers are a result of an article appearing in The Sun, last evening, in which it was stated that the

RELIEVED RHEUMATICS ENTHUSE ALL LOUD IN THEIR PRAISE OF "NEUTRONE PRESCRIPTION 99"

A working man buying a bottle of "Neutrone Prescription 99" was asked how it was helping him.

"Helping me," he replied. "Why, there is nothing on earth like it. You don't know how my poor swollen, stiff joints and muscles pained and burned. I was nearly crazy with suffering and the way of losing so much time and pay. Before I knew about Neutrone Prescription 99 I tried all kinds of tablets and ointments, but one bottle of Neutrone Prescription 99 helped me so much that I am never without it now. All pain and swelling is gone and I feel like doing things."

"Neutrone Prescription 99" certainly "does" be a wonder. The druggist recommended it to me. I have never had any more of my old troubles."

CLEMENCEAU SOON TO RETURN TO WORK

PARIS, Feb. 25.—Premier Clemenceau's progress is such that he is now classified as a convalescent. Latest reports indicate that he will soon return to work. The greatest difficulty experienced by his physicians, is in keeping him in his apartment. While at first it was very hard to prevent him from exerting himself and talking, he now wants to be taken out of doors.

A delegation of Australians last evening conveyed to Premier Hughes a message from three organizations of Australian soldiers serving in Belgium, expressing their admiration for M. Clemenceau, and their hope for his speedy recovery.

Grill Coffin Today

Emile Coffin, who shot the premier, will be interrogated today by Captain Bouchardon of the Paris military court. Several arrests were made yesterday of persons having political inclinations similar to those of Coffin.

A Havas report issued at 11 o'clock last night said:

"Premier Clemenceau's condition remains satisfactory and there are no complications. He is resting."

COURT FORBIDS STRIKE

Howard and Rogers of Lowell, petitioned for an injunction to restrain the union from further action, and Judge Chase has forbidden the continuance of the strike. It is understood that Deputy Sheriff George Siles left Cambridge this noon on business connected with the issuing of the injunction.

The following men, officers and members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Lowell Local No. 588, were named in the bill in equity filed by Mr. Qua: Joseph R. Salome, William H. Dacy, Joseph M. Richard, John S. Hurley, Henry Hall, Lester Hall, Joseph F. Morse, Thomas Keene, Adam Myrick, Harold M. Roberts and John A. Lyman.

Their names were called by Clerk Putnam, as is the custom in such cases, and four of the men were in court and responded as their names were called. Asked if they desired to be heard in opposition to the petition, they replied that they did not. They were not represented by counsel.

The general contractor for the St. John's hospital annex is Daniel Walker, who of course is not a party to the trouble which has been brought into the courts of Middlesex county. Derby for some time has maintained his business as an "open shop." Nearly a dozen of his men employed at the hospital job are understood to be union men. It is understood all his electrical workers employed on this job are extremely anxious that work be resumed.

As the matter now stands, the court having granted the injunction against the Electrical Workers' union and ordered the strike not to continue, if it should be continued, it is possible this fact would be construed to be an act in contempt of court. Apparently the court has given its approval that Derby continue with his work at the annex. So far as this end of the case is concerned evidently the next move must be started by counsel representing the Electrical Workers' union.

FIRE IN COTTON WASTE STORE HOUSE

But for the quick response and efficient work of the fire department, the old Middlesex North Agricultural society building in Gorham street, now occupied as a storehouse by the Cushman Waste Co., would probably have been destroyed this afternoon, when a lively blaze broke out in the north end of the wooden structure. The firemen were badly handicapped in their work owing to the fact that all the openings at that end of the building, including the windows and doors, were blocked with cotton bales. By tearing down a part of the wall, however, the members of the department were able to gain admittance to the building and succeeded in containing the fire to the all with comparatively small damage.

The blaze was started by boys who had lighted a grass fire at the end of the building and as soon as it was discovered an alarm was sounded from box 48 at 12:49 o'clock. A portion of the department responded in brief time and shortly after the arrival of the men several lines of hose had been laid. Torrents of water were poured on the outside of the wooden structure, but the fire had worked its way through the partitions to the second story, where hundreds of cotton bales are stored. Inasmuch as no entrance could be gained to the building through doors or windows, the firemen used their axes to good advantage on the end of the wall and pretty soon several lines of hose were playing on the lively and threatening blaze. After about a half-hour's work the firemen succeeded in putting out the fire before it reached the cotton bales. The damage was confined to the all of the structure.

If you want to buy, sell or exchange anything try a Sun want ad.

Commissioner George E. Marchand stated this morning that there had been a misinterpretation of his attitude at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the municipal council when it was discussing the annual budget and its effect on the fire department. He said the impression had gotten round that he was in favor of the abolition of the Western street house, but that this was entirely untrue. He admits making some remarks in a facetious vein about "one man protesting the abolition of the house" but that he emphasized the remark would be taken in that spirit.

"I will never vote for the abolition of that house," said Commissioner Marchand, "and I will not vote for any proposition that will do away with the house. Give them four good horses and fix up the chemical there and they'll be able to take care of conditions in that section of the city."

WASHINGTON BONE DRY

Bars Go Up Under Provision of New War Revenue Bill, Signed Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Except for foreign embassies and legations, Washington went bone dry today under a provision of the new revenue law withdrawing the immunity which the capital heretofore has enjoyed from the importation of intoxicants into prohibition territory.

Hundreds of shipments of liquor on their way from Baltimore were held up outside the district lines, having failed to get within the zone before the bars went up. For days express facilities, motor trucks, interurban lines and railroads between Washington and Baltimore have been congested with liquor shipments or with citizens making personal trips to the nearest liquor vending point.

Embassies and legations of foreign governments are not affected by the bone dry provision, according to the internal revenue bureau, although no formal ruling has been given on this point.

MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR SPEAKER OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Representative Campbell of Kansas was mentioned today as a possible third candidate in the republican contest for the speakership of the next house. He said he had not reached a decision. The republican conference, called for Thursday night, is expected to name the speaker. Representative Gilbert of Massachusetts and Representative Mann of Illinois, are the only avowed candidates, and managers of both claim the nomination.

SISTER RAPHAEL DEAD

Former Director of St. John's Hospital Passed Away Last Evening

The many Lowell friends of Sister Raphael, director of the Carney hospital in Boston, will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred last evening at the hospital in Boston. Sister Raphael, who was 57 years of age, was director of St. John's hospital in this city for three years, going to Boston about eight years ago. Deceased was born in Perryville, Mo., and has no known relatives in this part of the country. Before entering the order of the Sisters of Charity she was known as Miss Jones.

Sister Raphael left Lowell in 1910 after serving as director of St. John's for three years and during her stay in Lowell she gained a reputation as an able and lovable executive. She directed the large hospital staff in a most efficient manner and both patients and the hospital staff were sorely grieved at her departure and found consolation only in the knowledge that she was to enter a larger field of activity.

At the Carney hospital, one of the largest in New England, she elaborated her already excellent reputation and the nurses and doctors of that institution will mourn her departure. She was succeeded as director of St. John's by Sister Mary Clare, the present executive.

ICE CARNIVAL AT SHEDD PARK

If freezing weather occurs tonight and tomorrow morning the postponed ice carnival will be held tomorrow afternoon at Shedd Park at 5 o'clock. Supt. Kernan of the park department looked at the ice last night and feels fairly sure that the committee will be able to put over the event tomorrow. No skating will be allowed at the park today, as water flows beneath it smooth but thin coating of ice, and he wants to keep the surface in good shape for the carnival.

There is much interest in the carnival, especially among the juvenile skaters and the entry list promises to be large and full of class. First event at 5 o'clock, weather permitting.

DOESN'T WANT FIRE HOUSE ABOLISHED

Commissioner George E. Marchand stated this morning that there had been a misinterpretation of his attitude at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the municipal council when it was discussing the annual budget and its effect on the fire department. He said the impression had gotten round that he was in favor of the abolition of the Western street house, but that this was entirely untrue. ## MEXICAN BANDITS FIRED ON TRAIN shall, who has presided at the meetings during the president's absence was invited to take part in the deliberations.

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 25.—Passengers arriving from Monterey, Tex., reported that a band of armed Mexicans fired on the train at Bustamante, 100 miles south of the border. About 25 shots were fired. The engineer did not stop, pulling through the town at high speed.

It was said that the president had not yet made up his mind about the appointment of an attorney general to succeed Mr. Gregory or the calling of an extra session of congress.

The Labor Situation

President Wilson is anxious to meet with governors of the states before he returns to Europe to discuss the labor situation. He is said to realize that the question of unemployment is closely bound up with industrial unrest.

Boston Speech in Records

The president's Boston speech was ordered printed in the Congressional Record today, on motion of Senator Williams of Mississippi. At the senator's request parts of the speech were printed in italics.

Signs War Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Wilson arrived in Washington at five o'clock this morning from Boston, where he landed yesterday from the George Washington. Because of the early hour, Mrs. Wilson and the president remained on their special train some time before going to the White House.

At the request of the president, there was no formal reception at the station, but a large crowd was on hand when Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left their private car and walked through the station to a waiting automobile.

On reaching his desk, he briefly set to work on matters requiring his attention since he left Paris 10 days ago.

He was faced with a busy week before his departure to Paris. This afternoon he was to preside at a cabinet meeting while tomorrow night he has a dinner engagement with members of the senate and house foreign affairs committees to discuss the proposed constitution of the League of Nations.

Thursday he will review a parade in honor of returned District of Columbia soldiers. No other engagements had been made, so far as was made known, but many requests to see him on various matters were awaiting him.

President Wilson has been absent from Washington nearly three months, having left Dec. 3 for New York, where he embarked on the George Washington for Brest.

The president signed the six billion dollar war revenue bill aboard his train last night.

The measure carries a rider making the District of Columbia bone dry.

The birth of quadruplets makes Mrs. Annina Luzzi, 42 years old, of Philadelphia, the mother of 18 children, 13 of whom are still living. She is also the grandmother of 5 children. Each of the quadruplets weighs about seven pounds. Two are girls, blonde, and two boys, brunettes.

Municipal Council

son said that the matter was up to the school board as far as choosing a site was concerned.

Contrary to expectations, the council did not discuss appropriations at all. At the request of counsel for Lowell policemen, the council voted to give a hearing on the petition of the policemen for one day off in eight, next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10:05. Commissioner Murphy was absent.

A hearing was held on the petition of the Standard Oil Co. for permission to maintain gasoline tanks in Main st. and the matter later referred to Commissioner Morse.

A hearing was also held on the petition of Isaac Bernstein for garage and gasoline at King and Jackson streets. It was then referred to Commissioner Morse.

Morse School Question

Mayor Thompson read a communication from the school committee, recommending that an addition be built on the Morse school at the earliest possible moment.

Commissioner Morse said that he believed that the petitioners for a new school in the Highlands should be given a hearing before the municipal council.

Mayor Thompson said that the matter of choosing a site was wholly up to the school board.

Commissioner Donnelly said that the school committee had already given a hearing on the matter.

The mayor said that there had been no petition for a hearing before the council.

Hearing for Policemen

A communication from counsel for Lowell policemen was read in which the council was asked to give the policemen a hearing either Wednesday or Thursday of this week on their petition for one day off in eight. It was agreed to give a hearing Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

A petition of claim for personal injury was presented by George McGowan and referred to the law department.

A petition from the Appleton Co. of that Jackson street be re-paved was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR WHY IT INCREASES

Hair growth is stimulated and its frequent removal is necessary when merely removed from the surface of the skin. The only logical and practical way to remove hair is to attack it under the skin. DeMicare, the original sanitary hair, does this by absorption.

Only genuine DeMicare has a money-back guarantee in each package. At toilet counters in 60c, $1 and $2 sizes, or by mail from us in plain wrapper on receipt of price. FREE book mailed in plain sealed envelope on request. DeMicare, 120th St. and Park Ave., New York

On April 1 new taxes on railroad and steamship tickets, pipe lines, insurance, theatre admissions and club dues, and a variety of stamp taxes become effective. Levies against the excess of value of so-called semi-luxuries, such as articles of dress, will be made after May 1. The soda fountain tax becomes effective May 1. Taxes on products of child labor will be imposed in 60 days.

Without awaiting signature of the bill by the president, the internal revenue bureau has gone ahead preparing to administer the law. Tax return forms and regulations are being issued, and income and profits tax returns must be filed by March 15.

AMERICA IS HOPE OF WORLD

Wilson Says "This Great
Country of Ours Is Trusted
Throughout the World"

President Makes Stirring Address Amid Great Enthusiasm in Boston

MECHANICS' HALL, Boston, Feb. 24.—President Wilson in his first speech on arriving from France, invited the critics of the League of Nations plan to "test the sentiment of America."

Men, he declared, who would have America fall the world in its hope, saw only beyond the nearest horizon.

"They do not know the sentiment of America," he said.

C. S. Friend of Mankind

Picturing the hopes and aspirations of the people of Europe for a lasting peace which he said were pinned to the United States as "the friend of mankind," the president said he had no more doubt of the verdict of America in this matter than I have doubt of the blood that is in me.

"The nations of the world have set their heads now to do a great thing and they are not going to stop short of their purpose. I do not speak of the governments but of the people who will see that if their present government will not do their will, some other governments will, and the secret is out and the present governments know it."

Trying to Speak Our Thoughts

"I have come back for an attempt to transact business for a little while in America, but I say in all soberness that I have been trying to speak your thoughts. Probing deep in my heart and trying to see the things that are right rather than the things that are expedient, I am finding the heart of America."

"I find that in loving America I have joined the majority of my fellowmen throughout the world." The president began by asking his audience if they could understand him as he was glad to see them as they were to see him and went on to express his appreciation for his reception. His reception in Europe, he said, he considered not a tribute to himself, but a welcome to the American people. He regarded it as a welcome to "the friends of liberty" coming across the sea to see that a new world was to be consecrated on the basis of justice and right.

"The greatest thing I have to report to you," he said, "is that this great country of ours is trusted throughout the world. I have not come to report on the progress of the peace conference. That would be premature."

"The men who are in conference in Paris realize they are not masters of their people, but servants of their people and that no man will dare go home from that conference and report anything less than is expected."

Speaking of the slow progress of the conference, the president reminded his audience of the complexity of the problems, affecting nearly every country in the world.

"What we are doing," said he, "is to bear the whole case from those most interested. I have been struck by the moderation of these representing national claims."

"I have seen tears in the eyes of men there pleading for a national ambition; but they were not the tears of anguish, they were the tears of ardent hope."

"There is no nation in Europe that suspects the course of the United States. Was there ever such a wonderful thing before?"

"I would not have you understand that the men who represent the other nations there are disinclined. Quite the contrary."

"The European statesmen," he said, "when unable to agree were ready to resort to the nation known as the 'friend of mankind.'"

Yanks Welcomed Everywhere

To illustrate his point the president related that American soldiers were welcomed in all the European countries.

"If I were to regard the pride I feel, a personal pride, I would be the most stuck up man in the world," he said.

"I have been searching for the fundamental fact that has brought Europe to believe in us. She seemed for the first three years to believe we felt we could make more by staying out. Then, suddenly, the whole verdict was reversed. It was when they saw that America not only held ideals that they became the convinced partisans of America and became converted to those ideals."

"Now," said the president, "this confidence we have established calls for something. The Europe I left was full of hope. The Europe of the third year of the war was sinking to a stubborn desperation. They thought the end of the war would only be a resumption of the old order. They never dreamed it would be the Europe of settled peace."

"Now, all the peoples of Europe are buoyed up in the hope that all the nations of the world shall unite their moral and physical forces that right shall prevail. What would happen if America should fall the world of its hope? All nations will be set up as hostile camps again and the men at the peace conference will go home with their heads upon their breasts because they will have failed. We would leave on the peace table nothing but a modern scrap of paper."

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF NUN

MANISTEE, Mich., Feb. 25.—Officers

who last night took into custody Mrs. Stanislaw Luchinski on a charge of murder, in connection with the disappearance 11 years ago of Sister Mary Johns from the convent at Isadore, near Traverse City, planned today to further question the woman and Father Andrew Bienowski, pastor at Isadore a decade ago. The authorities held another warrant, but announced they were not yet prepared to serve it.

Mrs. Luchinski, who was housekeeper for Father Bienowski at Isadore and came here with him in the same capacity a few years ago, was arrested after the officers had spent the entire afternoon questioning her and the priest at the parish house here.

Both emphatically denied any knowledge of how the nun, a teaching sister at the convent, met her death. They also denied any knowledge of a body having been buried beneath the basement of the church, the exhuming of which recently precipitated the present investigation.

As far as they knew, they told the officers, Sister Mary disappeared one day while out walking. In connection with this statement officers recalled that the nun had been in the habit of taking long walks through the woods. It was this habit that led to the use of bloodhounds in an attempt to trace her after her disappearance from the convent.

Blood of Washingtons Still Flows Red And Hearts of Youthful Heroes Beat True to Honor

PRIVATE HOWARD A.
WASHINGTON

BY CAROLYN VANDE BELLE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—Once upon a time George Washington won freedom for America.

Not long ago 17 of his great, great grand nephews helped to win freedom for the world.

The spirit of Washington still lives—in these members of his family. Eagerly they heeded the call to the colors, each one a volunteer.

This army of the Washington blood, 17 stalwart young men, were distributed generously in the three arms of the service, the army, navy and marine corps.

Warily clothed they did not suffer and sacrifice in the same way as the ragged little army of their illustrious ancestor. They did not have to march with torn and bleeding feet across any stretch to meet the foe. But the same spirit of that famed 1775 imbued each of the 17. While they knew not the hardships of warfare that our revolutionary army knew they met the horrors of modern warfare with the same steadfastness of spirit.

One lightly skinned the air and met the foe on a cloud tip. Another fought daily duels with the enemy with guns that spit death for miles.

An ambulance driver figured among them who possessed incredible skill in driving wounded through raining shrapnel. One as chaplain comforted the souls of men under fire. Another, a physician, healed their wounds.

An electrician helped to keep the lines of communication intact. A yeoman fought the submarine menace from the deck of a destroyer. One was engaged in Red Cross work in Siberia. Another had a hand in the strategy that won the war, an artist in the topographical section.

Twelve of these boys were the sons of a brother and sister who were born in the same room that General George Washington died in at his Mt. Vernon home. Five boys are the sons of Laurence Washington and seven are the sons of his sister, who is Mrs. Tucker, wife of Bishop Beverly D. Tucker of Virginia.

brother of the bride, Mr. Fred Beauchemin. During the mass appropriate hymns were sung by the church choir and at the offertory a violin selection was given by Prof. Philippe O. Bergeron.

At the close of the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 1 Eddicott street, where a wedding breakfast was served. A reception will be held at the same address this evening. The happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, will leave next Monday for St. Gertrude, Que., where they will make their home.

WOMAN WORKER

Get Her Goat? No! She Has Too Many

SAN FRANCISCO, February.—Here's a new way for the woman in industry to avoid the many things that combine to "get her goat." Just have several goats—and make them pay.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brickdale has a whole herd. Although living practically in town—on the edge of the Suto Forest, which overlooks the city's smoke and grime—she leads the simple life with a number of thoroughbred Toggenburg goats, whose milk is much in demand.

Her clients are the hospitals of San Francisco, especially those which make a specialty of caring for children and babies.

"I have the satisfaction of knowing that, besides earning a good living in a healthy out-of-doors way, I and my goats save the lives of scores of poor little hungry babies," declares Mr. Brickdale.

"Medical science has discovered that goats' milk is the nearest possible to human mothers' milk. The hospitals take all of it they can get and ask for more. Little by little it is increasing the size of my herd."

"Thoroughbred goats pay best, though the initial investment is heavier. They are delicate to raise, at one must tend them very carefully. Love animals, and they love me, and we are very happy together."

One of Mrs. Brickdale's Toggenburg, "El Chivas Grelita," won the blue ribbon at the Panama Pacific Exposition.

SHOWING FRENCH HOW AMERICANS FIGHT FIRE

Yankee fighters showed the ill-equipped French companies a trick or two when called to a blaze in Basseux, a suburb of Bordenaux. The American Expeditionary force had taken to France motor engines and chemicals and warned them with trained Americans. When they dropped a line of hose over the edge of the French dock and set the machine in the picture pumping in record time, the French almost forgot the fire in their amazement.

EVEN WOUNDED SOLDIERS SAY THEY WANT FARM OF THEIR OWN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15.—The meeting of wounded men from overseas in the Red Cross auditorium at Walter Reed hospital was called to order by Major Baldwin, in charge of reconstruction.

"How many of you men want to start farming? I am talking now," he explained to them. "Only to those of you who are able to start working." Of the men, raised their hands. They wanted to get on the land.

Thirty were chosen, after Major

Baldwin had told all about the course in agriculture the government is giving to men of the reconstruction classes. There's a farm of 535 acres near Trumton, N. J., waiting for these men and for others as fast as their wounds heal and they are taught to get along, using a log or arm.

The present plan is to allot plots of ground to each man for truck gardens. Two medical officers will be on the job to attend to the men and during the next few months a chance at academic studies will be given. Among the farm courses will be studies in bees, poultry, soils, fertilizers, house and home management and farm management. Then will come the grain spring farm drive.

Mallery's total of 93 stops in last night's game shows that the Lowell team submitted him to a terrific bombardment.

The Providence team is going along at a great clip, and Burtin and his pals bear watching.

O'Brien is back in the Worcester lineup. The "Jiggers" now have a great team as Taylor and O'Brien add much strength to the outfit.

Bill Cusick is out of the Salem lineup as a result of injuries. Jack Finck filled in at halfback in last night's game.

Lawrence will play Lowell at the Crescent rink tonight and a big crowd is expected to be on hand. Lowell defeated Lawrence at the Devon river club Saturday night, and the Harkins club will be out for revenge tonight.

A crowd that loved the current of the Lawrence army saw the game, and it proved to be a hummer from Salem to Nash. Lowell-Lawrence games always are red hot.

Jigger Higgins and his greatly strengthened team will play here on Friday night. They will play a speedy and hard driving rusher will be in the lineup. Since joining the Worcester team, Higgins has played a sensational polo and the Worcester team are elated over the big improvement in the team's play. Higgins and Taylor are said to be teaming up wonderfully well. The acquisition of Taylor allows "Jigger" to show more of his famous floor work and juggling.

Three Republican and Two Democratic Candidates For Mayor

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Three candidates sought the republican majority nomination in today's primaries—William Hale Thompson, incumbent; Harry Olson, chief justice of the municipal court, and Captain Charles E. Merriam, professor of the University of Chicago.

Robert M. Switzer, county clerk, and Thomas Carey, formerly an alderman and a wealthy brick manufacturer, sought the democratic nomination.

Mayor Thompson's managers claimed that he would win easily. Olson and Merriam during the campaign, attacked Thompson's attitude toward the war and each expressed confidence of winning the nomination.

Four years ago Judge Olson was a candidate for the republican nomination and was defeated by Thompson by a small plurality. Switzer was the democratic candidate for mayor in 1915, when Thompson was elected by a plurality of 150,000.

25 YEARS TO PAY WAR DEBT

Will Cost American People
About $1,200,000,000 a
Year For Quarter Century

Net War Debt, With Deductions
For Loans to Allies,
$18,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—It will cost the American people about $1,200,000,000 a year for the next 25 years to pay off the war debt, according to estimates of the treasury. This calculation is made on the assumption that the net war debt with deductions for loans to the allies, will be in the neighborhood of $18,000,000,000. Interest on this amount at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent would be $750,000,000 a year, to be paid by taxes.

In addition, about $11,000,000 would have to be provided every year as a sinking fund to redeem all bonds in 25 years. This would require a cumulative sinking fund provision of 2.25 per cent. Congress had not yet authorized establishment of a sinking fund as recommended by Secretary Glass.

Treasury officials assert that if this authorization is given, bonds might be bought up on the market each year, or called for redemption at the periods provided in terms under which they were sold.

Viewing the Parade

not of the impressive kind. Every lot of it seemed perfectly natural and much-to-be expected. In fact, the Ordinary Fellow would have been surprised and disappointed had there been less. But not for a minute did he consider himself an outsider; he was a part of it all and there was nobody to dispute his right to that honor.

The Ordinary Fellow from Lowell—in whom Lowell people will undoubtedly be most interested—did not feel a bit out of place in the capital yesterday. Despite Boston's reputation—well earned in some respects—for coldness and lack of cordiality, there wasn't a bit of it in evidence the day the president came. If you were in Boston, it was pre-supposed that you came to honor the chief executive at one of the most inspiring moments in his career. If you didn't intend to do that you had no right in Boston. And who could have wished it otherwise?

It was a noisy morning in Boston. If you were anywhere near Common-wealth pier it was unusually blatant. And yet there was nothing of the irritating, piercing nature that made you feel tired almost before anything happened. Even the noises seemed to have dignity. The whistles were too long in the harbor. The crowds were assembling rapidly. In the early morning everybody seemed to be in a hurry to go somewhere and do something of paramount importance. There was a spirit of haste in the investigating means air that incubated action and life. Nobody seemed to walk slowly. Yet there was no frenzied excitement.

The LOWELL ELECTRIC LIGHT CORP.
29-31 Market Street.

Then as the forenoon wore on the hustling died down gradually. There was less room in which to hurry. Gradually the disconnected lines of people merged into solid masses and became stationary. The hour of the parade was approaching.

His Vantage Point
The Ordinary Fellow from Lowell—his part of the parade street near the South station as his vantage point—by the time the parade passed that point it would have been duty organized and would have struck its stride. The play was only a few minutes' walk on the street and over the viaduct. At 10 o'clock the evolution of the crowd began. For a while there were hurrying passers-by and then the life of the scene seemed to divide and people were dispatched to move one way or another. One very good reason for this was that there was no room in which to move.

Out in Summer street, extending in one direction as far as one could see were unbroken lines of railcars armed for military duty. Behind them were Boston's police officers. On either side were the labyrinthine corners of the chamberlain crowd.

Now and then a petty officer would pass up and down the ranks of ranks and whisper orders and instructions. In the rear ranks of the police a bulky sergeant or veteran lieutenant would tell what was to be done and who should do it and what was not to be done and who should not do it. Unconsciously his mind reverted to the good old Lowell department when a parade comes around. Policemen are policemen the world over—in Lowell or in Boston.

Then the crowd came. Brand new, they looked. Orders to retreat were belated and the crowd waited not to reason why. There to do or die—and make room for the times.

Finally the stanch cords were embedded around telegraph posts, elevated structures or whatever upright there was available.

Legs Were Aching

The crowd finally got settled and there came the first feeling of monotony. The Ordinary Fellow from Lowell and the super-ordinary people from all over New England had just one, all-consuming wish. They wanted something to happen. It was then 11 o'clock. An hour to go! O boy, more than one pair of legs were aching.

Then something did happen. Across the street in the second story of the Wentworth building two young things wanted to sit on the window sill and get a first-hand view of what was going on. It was a thorough job at best—getting out on a window with nothing but a sheer incline below. First, Friend Brunette essayed it, but nothing doing. She got cold feet or else was wearing warm-weather stockings. Five thousand eyes looked upward and five thousand eyes were disappointed. But the gallant first fender did not give up their hopes. They wanted company out on that window sill.

Somebody in the office seemed to sense the feelings of the crowd and he suggested to Miss Blonde that she try it. At least that's how it seemed to the crowd below. It was all pantomime to the Ordinary Fellow. Miss Blonde was game and out she came. She perched herself securely on the sill and grinned with the spirit of accomplishment. Then she grasped Miss Brunette's hand and they were all together again for the big procession.

More monotony. 11:30. Would that parade ever come? The sun was playing hide and seek but now it seemed to have decided to stay in one place to see the president. It was a wonderful morning atmospherically.

Airship Shows Up

And just as the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell was looking up at the sky there came from the direction of the pier a low-flying plane. It seemed that every eye in the crowd saw it at the same moment and there went up a tremendous, synchronous hosanna of greeting: "Look at the airship!"

It was one of the speedy naval aircraft and the crowd immediately decided it was from Chatham. Over the Wentworth building it went and one got an idea that the aviator was trying to get a glimpse of the Misses Brunette and Blonde in the second-story window. Be that as it may, he was doing very well. The top of the building showed him from sight for a few seconds and then back he came and took up his course toward the pier again. One could hear the steady, drum-drum-drum top-like buzzing of the propeller as he flew overhead. His "bow" seemed to gladden like a shining, silvery bird in the sunlight. "You need no running for a jump," remarked a fellow standing nearby who had been down at Pensacola during his bit of burn training in the air force.

More monotony. 11:50. Crash, a series of bells and back went the crowd to the Wentworth building. A half-penned of glass was descending on to the heads of the crowd on the sidewalk. At least a thousand individual bells went up while that glass was coming down from the fifth story where it had been accidentally knocked out by workmen. It landed in the crowd. There followed a period of suspense. A policeman jumped up on top of a tunnel entrance and investigated. Evidently there had been sufficient warning and the glass had done no damage. But it provided one more item of excitement.

11:55. Then the airplane man came into view again and he was growing like an old giant. Close behind were three other machines of the same type. Evidently the flier had tried his reception and brought some passengers to enjoy it. The quarter past round for fully 16 minutes, came together a battle formation, dispersed, flew in ascending circles, one above the other and then for a final, executed a few nose-dives. Nothing startling or dangerous, just safe and one watching as much enjoyed by the crowd as by the aviator themselves.

President Coming

At 12 o'clock noon. A series of whistles from the direction of the pier. The crowd shifted to the other leg and the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell thought of lunch. That was because he was ordinary. Your pet Bostonian thought of the splendid dignity of the occasion. The president coming at high noon.

Twenty minutes of expectation and then a blast from a nearby navy bugler and up near the viaduct there came a mass of riding figures, not clearly distinct at the distance. Gradually they grew nearer, now they were actually in front of us. A squad of Boston's finest mounted policemen, behind them came a troop of cavalry—Camp Devens, somebody said.

One's eyes followed them as if drawn by magnetism. Then, as the Ordinary Fellow turned his head again to see the rest of the procession, there was a sudden change in the scene. A Cavalry column came in the sunlight. A tall figure in light brown fur coat was standing, waving a silk hat. He turned to the left and the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell got his first glimpse of Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States. The presidential teeth were prominent, but not intrusive, as the cartoons make them appear. The president's face is not half so angular as one thinks from the pictures. He was much stouter than the Ordinary Fellow had expected. Bowing to the left and right and waving the shining silk hat. The crowd roared and somebody said: "That's the old boy!" Mrs. Wilson was sitting at his left, smiling behind a mass of American beauties.

Then the car sped past, altogether too soon and the last impression the Ordinary Fellow got was a mass of white light on the back of the president's head.

There followed a line of automobiles in which there were few people that the fellow from outside Boston knew. In seven minutes the parade was over and then one was jammed wherever the crowd wanted you to go.

But what did anybody care? He had seen the president at close range and the world was serene. So the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell walked on and thought happy thoughts about the part Lowell had done in the war and what an impressive and privileged thing it was to serve a man like the president, whom he had just seen.

85,000 CAPTURED HUN HELMETS AT HOBOKEN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Eighty-five thousand captured German helmets sent to this country by Gen. Pershing for Victory Liberty loan advertising are now in a huge pile at Hoboken, N. J. Government lawyers are trying to find some statute under which the hats may be given away. At first the war department said the loan managers' plan for using the helmets as prizes for the best records in each district could not be carried out because the government by law was forbidden from giving away materials. Then Frank R. Wilson, director of loan publicity, thought of an old law permitting the government to give away "munitions of no value." Now war department lawyers are checking up on the law.

Meanwhile, souvenir hunters from Hoboken are nibbling into the pile of helmets without awaiting the lawyers' decision, according to advices received here.

SCHOOL TEACHERS ARE EXEMPT FROM TAXES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Thousands of public school teachers are exempt from income taxes on their salaries as teachers, according to an explanation today by the internal revenue bureau in clarification of its recent announcement that salaries of all officers and employees of state, county, city or other municipal or local government are not taxable. It is explained that this applies to teachers providing they receive pay from a public source and not from a private school. It also applies to policemen, firemen and other public employees.

The exemption was made in the tax law, but doubt over the precise meaning prompted the interpretation from the revenue bureau.

TO ERADICATE HOODLUM

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 25.—At the request of the local government, the Rockefeller Institute has sent Dr. Powell Farmer here to direct the work of eradicating the hoodlums. A recent census shows that fully 10 per cent of the population is suffering from the disease.

NERVOUSNESS ON THE DECLINE

Doctors Encouraged, They
Hold Out Hope for All

"Nothing wrong but my nerves." We hear it at home, at work and everywhere. Certainly, nervousness is a disease. A man or woman might better have a broken leg than a shattered nervous system.

Overwork and worry drains the nerve cells and centers of all their strength and vitality. Then you get your sleepless nights, poor blood, nervousness, worry and fear. The better doctors of today know just what to do in cases of this kind. A few weeks' use of Phosphated Iron rarely fails to strengthen and feed the Phosphated-hungry nerve centers.

Phosphated Iron certainly does take hold. The way of the majority of patients come back is remarkable.

What a change in appearance, too. The cheeks become filled out and flushed with the healthy ruddy glow that only pure, red, purified blood can give. Eyes sparkle, there is a new spring and swing of youth and their whole system seems to be alive with energy and good spirits.

Mr. Nervous Man or Woman, Phosphated Iron will do all this for you if you will give it a chance. Do not drag around, all in and half dead another day when you get up. Get busy! And be a live one once again!

To insure doctors and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to give you pills or tablets. Buy capsules.

Conscription Plan Abandoned
—Voluntary Recruiting To
Form National Guard

BERLIN, Monday, Feb. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Conservative press laments the passing of the old imperial army, which will become a thing of the past when the Weimar assembly, perhaps this week, adopts the national defense measure. This bill provides for the organization of a national guard composed of one brigade for each former army corps. Conscription will be abandoned, according to the terms of the bill and voluntary recruiting will be conducted by a central bureau.

At present, unofficial stations are receiving soldiers, being supported out of private funds.

Police Court News

was at her work in the spinning room of the Appleton Manufacturing Co. yesterday morning when John, who had formerly been an employee in the room, dropped in and made his way over to her. He tried to kiss her, Elizabeth said, and she ran down the room with John at her heels, holding a knife in his hand.

John was then called upon to give his version of the affair. John readily admitted that he was at one time an inmate of the Tewksbury infirmary, but emphatically affirmed that the officials at the institution had the wrong idea altogether about his mental condition, for to use his own words, "a saner man never walked on two feet." John also explained that he is an inventor. Yes, sir, a real live inventor. He recently perfected his plans for a new model of aeroplane, which, he claims, will revolutionize aerial warfare as it is conducted today. John recently offered his invention to the United States government, and although the adjutant-general wrote him that the government had not found his invention practicable, still, he averred, he has not yet given up all hope.

But in return to John's love affair, he denied that he had pulled a knife on Elizabeth although he readily admitted that he had tried to kiss her. "But you can't blame a man for wanting to kiss a pretty little girl like her," he stated, and this was his sole defense.

He was found guilty by Judge Knight and the case ordered continued for one week, bail being set at $500.

Manuslaughter Charge

Manuel Perronette of Lawrence was called on continuance on a complaint charging him with manslaughter in the death of Carl E. Friberg of this city, who was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant on Bridge street on the afternoon of Jan. 17. Friberg died at St. John's hospital several days after.

A medical examiner's report indicated that no inquest was necessary owing to the fact that it was clear that Friberg's injuries had not caused or contributed to his death, the defendant was found not guilty and the case dismissed.

Mohammed's Razor

Mustapha Mohammed and his trusty razor occupied considerable of the court's time this morning, he being present on a complaint charging him with assault with a dangerous weapon on his shopmate, Hussain Osman.

Hussain told the court that he had met the defendant on his way home from work shortly after 6 o'clock on the evening of Feb. 14, and that the latter had said: "I am going to kill you with this razor." Then, to use the complainant's words, "He did his best to carve me up so that I couldn't work any more." Seven deep slashes across the face and body were the sum total of defendant's ability with the razor, Hussain stated, which necessitated several stitches and also several days in the hospital for him.

Defendant stated that he could not remember anything about the affair, but as another man employed at the plant, who had witnessed the affair, was present and corroborated Hussain's story, his lack of memory failed to convince the court of his innocence and he was ordered to serve three months in the house of correction.

"I stole the brass to keep my children from going to bed hungry that day," he said.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist, 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough medicine than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and helps the sore throat membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guarantee to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Copies of All Secret Agreements Between Two Nations Sent to Paris

All Have Been Laid Before
Council of Great Powers

PEKIN, Sunday, Feb. 23.—(By the Associated Press.) The foreign office yesterday dispatched a cable message to the Chinese delegation at the peace conference in Paris enumerating the Chino-Japanese agreements of which copies have been telegraphed the delegation. These, in addition to the agreements relating to Japan's 21 demands and the Chino-Japanese military conventions, copies of which the delegation took with it when it left for Paris, comprise all the secret agreements between China and Japan, the message sets forth. The foreign office cablegram, as given out here, reads: "With regard to the Chino-Japanese agreements, you took away with you copies made by the foreign office of all those relating to the 21 demands and the Chino-Japanese military convention. The foreign office has already telegraphed the text, firstly, of the Kiro forest and mines loan; secondly, the draft of the agreements for the Manchurian and Mongolian Railway loan; thirdly, the draft of the agreements for the Kailash-Szechowen and Tsinghai-Shan-shan railway loans; fourthly, the notes exchanged regarding the co-operative working of the Kiao-Chan-Tsien railway."

"Besides these there are no other secret agreements nor are there any secret treaties of any kind. 'Please disclose all those documents to the peace conference as circumstances permit and act according to your discretion.'"

SECRET AGREEMENTS BEFORE COUNCIL

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The Chino-Japanese agreements of Sept. 1915, supplementing the treaty and notes of May, 1915, concerning the disposition of the German rights in Shantung province, are now before the council of the great powers at the peace conference.

Both the Chinese and the Japanese delegates declare that no documents have been withheld from the peace conference which is expected shortly to pass upon the disposition of the former German holdings in Shan Tung province.

CHINA GRATEFUL TO PRES. WILSON

PEKIN, Friday, Feb. 21.—(By the Associated Press.) "China is very grateful to President Wilson and the United States delegates to the peace conference for the help they have extended our delegates in Paris," said Premier Chin Hun-Hsun today. "The whole Chinese nation wishes to thank the United States, through the Associated Press."

Describing the newly organized Chinese league of nations society, he said its object was to arouse the interest of the people in the league and give all possible assistance to the Chinese delegates at Paris. Several weeks ago, he said, the Chinese government dispatched a cablegram to President Wilson, setting forth the readiness of China to participate in the league, and now he expects the Chinese parliament to telegraph an expression of its support to the organization.

The premier said that he was much gratified over the election of Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to the United States, to a place on the commission for a league of nations and added that China was ready at the proper moment to take whatever part or undertake any duty that might be assigned to her.

"China intends to publish all secret agreements made during the war, even commercial engagements," he said. "The Chinese delegates to the peace conference were urged to make public these documents before the departure of President Wilson from Paris, he remarked."

Of course, he continued, China expects the powers to disclose all secret agreements they have among them concerning China. No trouble over this step is expected, he said.

Chin Hun-Hsun said he was hopeful regarding a solution to the problems arising from China's internal difficulties and believed that a satisfactory arrangement would be reached at the coming conference at Shanghai. The interview was granted in a room which was formerly the stage of the dowager empress theatre.

What was the defense offered by James Vincent when he was called to answer the charge of larceny of 50 pounds of brass and 10 pounds of wire from the Bay State railway? Vincent admitted that his weekly wages averaged about $25 a week, but added that sometimes this was not enough to go around, as he had a large family to support. A fine of $15 was imposed.

Wicker Gets Decision

Sam Wicker and Stanley Marowski met each other on Middlesex street yesterday afternoon and after a few words Sam sent over a beautiful left hook which landed squarely on the point of Stanley's jaw, sending him down for the count and then some. This morning Sam admitted to Judge Knight that he had been the poorer behind the punch that had laid Stanley low, but said that he had done it because Stanley baited him. A fine of $25 was imposed in this case.

James Kennedy, for drunkenness, was given one month in jail.

Several offenders drew down sentences to the state farm, and three others paid small fines. Seven releases were issued by the probation officer.

AIRPLANE FLIES OVER

They used a De Havilland bombing plane and were in the air two hours. They flew from Kingman to the canyon and return after following its course for miles. ## Great Possibilities for Power From Merrimack River

Bill Passed by House Today, With Senate Amendments, Includes Survey For Storage Reservoir at Headwaters —Plan To Connect Merrimack and Piscataqua Rivers as Link in Coastal Waterway From Maine to Florida

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—That the city of Lowell may in time be lighted by power generated from the Merrimack river and that great manufacturing cities may have the benefits of cheap electric power is forecasted and made almost certain by the passage today in the house of the $33,000,000 rivers and harbors bill which makes financial provision for three projects of exceedingly great interest to Lowell people.

First and foremost the federal government's engineers will survey the area in central New Hampshire where it is expected a monster artificial reservoir will be created to store up water which feeds the Merrimack river or in other words, a storage for water from the Merrimack river water shed. This great reservoir positively, by present indication, will be made and before many years. Its existence will provide at all times a steady, ample and reliable supply of water for the industries in the Merrimack valley which are dependent on this river.

In connection with this the federal government will pay for a complete and exhaustive survey of the Merrimack river from its source to its mouth, to be exact in all details and possibilities.

This Merrimack river survey is also necessary because simultaneously the government is to make a survey of the Piscataqua river in south eastern New Hampshire. The government in its plans for inter-coastal waterways, plans to evidently connect the Piscataqua and Merrimack rivers with a canal, this being an important link in the Maine to Florida system of inter-coastal waterways.

The senate, adding some beneficial amendments, had already passed this rivers and harbors bill, RICHARDS.

Big Seaplane With Three Ensigns and Two Machinists Lost Off Coast

Search of the coast failed to disclose any trace of the plane and today it was officially given up as lost.

Total contributions amounted to $5587, while the suburban towns reported $2922. Lowell is still about $20,000 shy of the quota for the district, but as the campaign goes on unabated this week it is confidently believed that the desired total will be obtained next Saturday evening, when the workers meet in Memorial hall. Nation's Head Reiterates Confidence in People Supporting League

Returns to Washington After Notable Reception in Boston—Warm Welcome

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Back in the White House after an absence of nearly three months, President Wilson was working away at his desk this morning when surprised members of the staff of the executive offices began to report.

His first act, without waiting for the office force, was to send a telegram to Theodore E. Burton, president of the League of Nations union at New York, reiterating his confidence that the people of the United States with practical unanimity would support the League of Nations.

Mr. Burton, republican, and former senator from Ohio, had telegraphed a welcome to the president as recognized leader of the League of Nations movement.

Notable Welcome in Boston

The president's train from New York reached here at 5 o'clock after an uneventful run from Boston, where he received a notable welcome home yesterday on his arrival from France. At 8:10 the president and Mrs. Wilson left the train, passed through a cheering and handclapping crowd in the station and drove quickly to the White House. A few minutes later he was in his office, surveying the tasks that lie ahead of him during the single week that is to pass before March 3, the day set for his sailing again for France to take up his interrupted work at the peace conference.

White House Dinner Tomorrow

No conferences with members of congress have been arranged so far but there may be one or two on important matters before the president meets the members of the foreign relations committee of the senate and house at dinner tomorrow to go over the constitution of the League of Nations. Plans for an address before a joint session of congress are expected to take shape in a day or two.

INCOME TAX PAYMENTS
EARLY THIS YEAR

Income tax payments this year are due earlier than ever before. The first payment date is March 15th, simultaneous with the final due date of the return required by the new revenue law.

"File and Pay by March 15th" is the new slogan of the Internal Revenue bureau. Collector John H. Malloy is preparing to handle the flood of income tax payments that will reach him between now and the close of business on Saturday, March 15th.

"Early payment of income taxes is of the utmost importance in meeting the treasury's debts brought about by the war," explains Collector Malloy. "The new law makes March 15th as the first payment date because there are large obligations outstanding in the form of certificates of indebtedness that must be met on that date."

"The earlier payment this year should cause no hardship to taxpayers, who, generally speaking, have anticipated the enactment of the new law and have set aside a reserve from 1918 income to meet the government tax."

"What is needed now is another practical display of that great spirit of co-operation which has carried over the top every big governmental objective that had to do with the winning of the war. The persons and corporations who are called upon by the new law to pay income and war excess profits taxes on 1918 income have a great vital duty to perform. That it will be done in the thorough American way is a foregone conclusion."

"Every taxpayer who can possibly do so is urged to pay his entire tax when filing his return, on or before March 15th. The installment method, by which one-quarter of the amount may be paid at that time, followed by quarterly payments on June 15th, Sept. 15th and Dec. 15th, is intended for taxpayers whose financial condition of the tax at one time would tend to upset local financial conditions."

"Don't wait until the final due date, March 15th, for filing your return or paying your tax. Let us eliminate the last minute rush, so far as possible. By evenly distributing the load, between now and March 15th, every taxpayer will have a chance to get any needed advice and aid in determining his liability and preparing his return. The internal revenue bureau has placed its entire energies into meeting the needs of taxpayers in this respect. Also, by distributing the load, the government machinery will be better able to stand the strain that this great effort entails."

"Co-operation is the spirit of the time. It is vital to the income tax. Let us all get together and establish another record for Americanism."

President's Signing Bill Imposing Liquor Tax Makes
Lowell Business Brisk

Lowell today was in the throes of a liquor rush which would make the ordinary bargain sale on a Saturday night look like a Sunday school picnic, as the result of the tip which has gone out that President Wilson will sign the $6,000,000,000 revenue bill which will send the price of bottled goods to a hitherto unheard of level, making it necessary for thirsty Lowellites to pay nearly double for the principal alcoholic beverages.

So bullish has the wholesale liquor market become that one of the vital ingredients of the most popular cocktail has practically been wiped out of the market. French vermouth, without which the dry Martini and the Bronx are insipid, is hardly to be had at any price.

The feverish buying started early in the week, when one or two of the larger dealers in rum passed the tip out among their friends that "now was the time to buy." Wholesalers and persons who are used to dispensing liquors on a large scale are letting go all but enough to last them until June 30. After that it will be useless except for exhibition purposes, a reminder of the days that were. They cannot afford to hold any more than they can sell in the last few moist months, for the new revenue bill imposes a tax of $3.20 on ardent spirits.

Gin, which is the base of nearly all cocktails fit to drink, is soaring every minute. Those who have not provided themselves with enough of it to last a reasonable time are out of luck, according to the dealers, for in the next 24 hours gin will skyrocket beyond the reach of any but the most pithoric purses. Many homes are doomed to be without cocktail-tails from now on and many a dinner that might have been will be unable to get cranked up.

One wholesaler, speaking on the sudden switch in prices said:

"No, there is no danger of Lowell going dry before its time. There is plenty of liquor and there are plenty of wines, but a man will have to be pretty well fixed" from now on if he intends to buy drinks at retail. The only chance for the man with a moderate thirst and a moderate income is to store it up. And there isn't much chance there. Wholesale prices will go skyrocketing the minute the revenue bill is signed and retail prices will double."

Dubois-Dupont

A pretty wedding took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Joseph's rectory, when Mr. Barthelme Dubois, a well known young man of this city and Miss Irene Valentine Dupont, a charming young woman of Pawtucketville were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. The bride was handsomely attired in georgette crepe trimmed with pearls and carried bridal roses. She was given away by her father, Mr. Arthemy Dupont, while the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Phillip Dubois. At the close of the ceremony a brief reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 168 Moody street and later the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on an extended wedding trip and upon their return they will make their home in this city. Present at the wedding from out-of-town was a brother of the bride, Mr. Emilian Dupont of Ontario, Canada.

Last Friday evening the bride was tendered a reception at her home by a group of friends, who presented her a handsome boudoir electric lamp. A varied musical program was given and a buffet luncheon was served.

NOW'S TIME TO REPAIR
FARM IMPLEMENTS

All users of farm implements should anticipate, so far as practicable, the necessity for repairs and replacements sufficiently in advance of the working season to make it possible to put their implements in good working condition before the spring operations begin. This is the gist of a telegram from the secretary of agriculture to E. W. McCullough, of Chicago, secretary of the National Implement and Vehicle association. Secretary Houston's telegram was in response to one from Mr. McCullough advising him that manufacturers of and dealers in all lines of farm operating equipment have agreed, in the interest of economy and conservation, to join in urging farmers to inspect their equipment and to order necessary parts in advance of the time they are needed.

Manufacturers and dealers declare that if they can know sufficiently in advance the needs of the farmers for repair parts, these parts can be supplied when they are needed. If the needs are not known to the manufacturers and dealers until the actual time for use, troublesome and costly delays are likely to be caused—delays that may be felt in decreased production at harvest.

JEWS OF AMERICA
IN THE WAR

That the Jews of America have contributed more than their proportionate quota to the armed forces of the United States in the war is shown in the official "War Record of American Jews" which has just been issued by the American Jewish committee, through its office of war records, at 31 Union square, New York City.

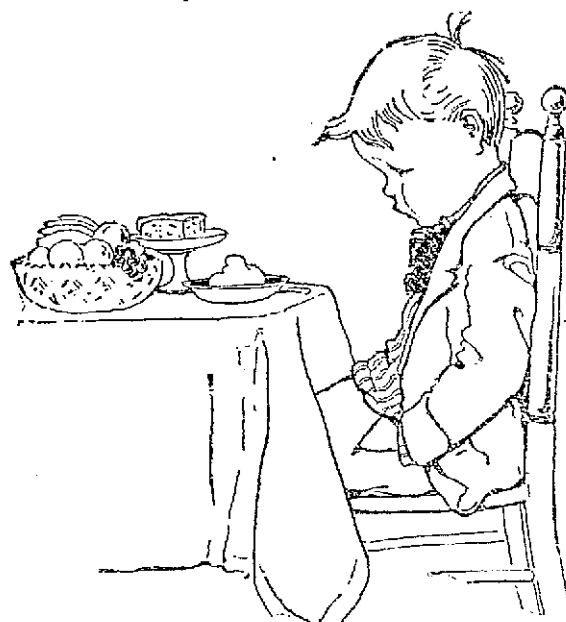

While the report does not pretend to be a complete record of the activities of all Jews who responded to the call of their country it is sufficiently comprehensive to indicate the important part that they played. The total number of Jews in the military and naval service of the United States is estimated at from 165,000 to 200,000, or from four to five per cent. of the total personnel of the American forces at the time the armistice was signed. The Jewish element in the general population of the United States is about three per cent. The Jews of America have therefore, according to these figures, contributed at least one-third more than their proportionate share.

This excess is explained by the presence of about 40,000 Jewish volunteers in the service. Other contributing factors were to be found in the more effective operation of the draft system in the thickly populated urban centers of the north and east, which happens also to be the centres of Jewish population, and in the fact that the majority of exemptions on industrial grounds were chiefly in agriculture, mining and in the metal industries, where Jews are not extensively employed.

The files of the office of Jewish war records already contain over 100,000 individual records, of which about 50,000 have been minutely classified and tabulated. The number of Jewish commissioned officers so far recorded include: 5162 in the army, 206 in the navy and 10 in the marine corps. It is probable, however, that these numbers will be more than doubled when the record will finally be completed. The highest rank reached by Jews is that of brigadier-general in the army and "marine corps, and rear admiral in the navy.

The readiness of American Jews to fight for their country is shown by the fact that 72 per cent. of those in the army were in the combat branches, while in the army as a whole only about 40 per cent. were in these branches. Their casualties amount to about 10,000, of whom probably 2000 were killed in action. Other evidence of the quality of their courage is found in the long list of citations for valor furnished in the report and in the testimony of commanding officers like General Bell, Lieutenant Colonel Whittelsey and Captain Harrigan, who trained the Jewish recruits in camp or led them in action.

"From information now at hand," concludes the report, which is signed by Julian Leavitt, the director, "it is become apparent that the record of Jewish war service, when fully developed, will demonstrate conclusively that the same qualities which enable the Jew to survive through the centuries—his capacity to endure, without breaking, prolonged and intense strain; his initiative, his elasticity of mind, his faculty for organization, and above all, his idealism—have also enabled him to fit himself successfully into a democratic army fighting for world democracy."

JOBS FOR SOLDIERS
BECOMING SCARCER

Examiner Cronin, of the Lowell United States employment bureau told The Sun yesterday that the situation in Lowell as regards employment of returning soldiers and sailors is far from satisfactory at the present time. The boys are coming home in ever-increasing numbers. The labor conditions in the city are such that work for them is becoming increasingly difficult to procure.

Mr. Cronin hopes that the manufacturers and others who employ labor will assist him in his task of finding employment for the boys who were willing to give their lives for the cause of democracy, and who on returning find themselves out of work and in many cases, out of funds. He requests that all employers who have positions open will get in touch with him at once in order to speed the work of placing the men in profitable employment.

"There's a Reason"

Women Find Clear Skin
In Simple Laxative

A sense of false modesty often prevents women from admitting that many of her ills and disorders are due primarily to constipation.

But women who know themselves have learned that headache remedies and beautifiers only cover the trouble but do not dislodge it.

What is needed is a remedy to move the bowels and stir up the torpid liver. An ever-increasing number of sensible women take a small dose of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold by druggists under that name.

It will save a woman from the habitual use of headache remedies, skin lotions and similar makeshifts. Once the bowels are emptied and regulated, the headache and the pimples and blotches disappear. It is the rational, natural method.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin lasts a family a long time, and all will find use for it from time to time. Thoughtful people are never without it in the house.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 25 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

HERR SCHEIDE NAMED
BAVARIAN PREMIER

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 25.—Herr Scheide has been named Bavarian premier in succession to Kurt Eisner, who was assassinated last week. Herr Scheide, a majority socialist, has been appointed minister of the interior, succeeding Herr Auer, who was shot at Munich at the disorders there, according to despatches to the Politiken.

A provisional ministry has been constituted, consisting of nine members, instead of eight. Among the ministers is Prof. Friedrich Forster of the University of Munich. It is said the land-

IRISH ENVOY ARRIVES AT

DUBLIN, Feb. 25.—Sean O'Cealligh, who yesterday presented himself to the peace conference at Paris as an accredited envoy of the Irish government, was formerly in business here, and was secretary of the Gaelic league. He was not prominent in the disorders on Easter Sunday, 1916, but was deported immediately after the government had suppressed that rebellion. He was released late in December, 1917, but was not detained long. He was not placed under arrest last May, when many members of his party were placed in jail.

He is a member of the Dublin corporation, and was elected to parliament on the Sinn Fein ticket in the recent general elections. He was a member of the delegation appointed to present the freedom of the city to Pres. Wilson, and when no reply to the invitation to visit Dublin was received from the president, he obtained a passport to go to Paris to inquire why. When he arrived in Paris, he announced that he was a representative of the Irish government and his action was approved by his party. O'Cealligh was married last year to Miss Mary Ryan, professor of modern languages at the National university.

TYLER PARK SCHOOL PLOT
IS NOT APPROVED

The following letter was today sent by the Lowell school committee to the mayor and the municipal council:

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 21, 1919.
To the Mayor and Municipal Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen:
In the matter of petitions of George P. Putnam et al and Benjamin A. Staver, et al, respecting a new school in the Highlands district, the school committee beg leave to state that the petitioners have not convinced them that the former action taken in this matter should be rescinded. They therefore re-state their former conviction and recommend that 70,000 square feet of land in the rear of the present Morey school be purchased and an 18-room addition to said school be built thereon as soon as possible.

RICHARD B. WALSH, chairman.
WILLIAM L. CROWLEY,
JULIAN B. LEVY,
WILLIAM R. THOMPSON,
GEN. GARDNER W. PEARSON,
School Committee.

The Committee's Statement

The following statement has been issued by the committee on their position in the matter of the proposed school in the Highlands:

"In voting to withdraw upon the petition for a new school near Tyler park, in the Highlands, in preference to an addition to the Morey school, the school committee desire to make public the facts upon which they base their action.

"As a matter of location, a new school in the vicinity of Tyler park would be some distance west of the center of school population in the Highlands. The present membership of the six grammar and primary schools making up this district is 222. Of these, only 119 live west of the line of Foster and Parker streets. The present need is to relieve the overcrowding rather than to develop new territory. Therefore, it seems unreasonable to place the new school to the westward merely to accommodate these 119 pupils.

"It may be said that once the new school is built, the locality will develop faster, and the inequality soon be made up. But it is not certain that the Middlesex Village and Princeton street section will develop faster than that southward of the Morey school toward the Chelmsford line. In any event, it must be some years before the development becomes great enough to move the center of school population very much westward of where it now is.

"Of course, some people will be dissatisfied but that is one of the disadvantages of living in the outskirts of the city. The extreme distance from the city line at Middlesex Village to the Morey school does not exceed a mile and two-thirds, no greater than children have to come in other sections, in Belvidere and Pawtucketville, for example. Furthermore, no young children are obliged to go this distance, as the school at Middlesex Village takes care of all up to the seventh grade.

"More important than the question of distance or location, however, is that of economy in administration and maintenance. The modern practice is to do away with small buildings and to concentrate in large schools. Aside from the reduction in cost of heating plant, coal and the like, large schools mean better teaching. Pupils can be classified and the energy of the teaching staff can be applied more effectively. Another school in the Highlands would only increase the duplication of effort that already exists because of the location of three grammar schools within a short distance of each other. The committee has come to the conclusion that the policy of erecting new er and larger school buildings is sound and intend to adopt it in all cases where conditions will fairly admit of so doing."

HUN LONG RANGE GUN ON EXHIBITION IN PARIS

PARIS, Feb. 25.—One of the German long range guns which "shelled" Paris at intervals during the last few months of the war is now on its way to this city and will be placed on exhibition in the Place de la Concorde, according to La Victoire. Marshal Foch, the newspaper says, demanded the surrender by the Germans of one of these guns, which was found by French officers near Mayence, and it is this weapon which is being sent to Paris.

$1500 MINIMUM SALARY
FOR TEACHERS

Doubling the salaries of teachers within the next five years, and then adding 50 per cent before another 10 years have passed, so that the minimum average salary for teachers will be $1500—this is the program urged by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. Dr. Claxton says:

"It is only by very large increases in pay of teachers that we may hope to improve our schools appreciably. Small increases of 5, 10 or 20 per cent will not avail, for they will not be sufficient to hold in the schools men and women of superior ability.

"Teachers are now paid less for their work than any other class of workers, and the increase in their pay in the last few years has in nowise been in keeping with the increase in pay of other workers, or with the increase in the cost of living.

While the cost of living has increased approximately 80 per cent—food, 85 per cent; clothing, 100 per cent; drugs, 105 per cent; fuel, 52 per cent; and house furnishing goods, 75 per cent—the salaries of teachers have increased only about 15 per cent. The purchasing power of the salary of the teacher in our public schools is therefore, only about 65 per cent of what it was four years ago.

"Many of the better teachers are leaving the schools and their places are taken by men and women of less native ability, less education and culture, and less training and experience. Many of the places are not filled at all. As an inevitable result the character of the schools is being lowered just at a time when it ought to be raised to a much higher standard.

"Students now entering the normal schools to prepare for teaching are not of as good quality as they were formerly, which means that the standards of the schools must continue to fall. In some normal schools the enrollment is far less than in former years.

"The only remedy is larger pay for teachers. If school boards, legislators, and county and city councils would immediately announce the policy of doubling the average salary of teachers within the next five years and of adding not less than 50 per cent more within the 10 years following the expiration of this period, so that at the end of 15 years the average salary of public school teachers would be not less than $1500—about one and a half times larger than they receive at present—and then take steps for carrying out this policy, much good would be accomplished thereby at once.

"Such a policy and such a prospect would attract to the schools more men and women of superior ability and would hold them, working contentedly and, therefore, profitably for the children and the public welfare. Such increase in salary should carry with it an increase of not less than 25 per cent in the average length of the school term, which is now less than 160 days.

"To those who are not acquainted with past conditions and who have never the matter no intelligent thought, the increase recommended may seem large, but in fact it is not. It would in most states mean a range of salaries from $1000 to $2000. No person who is fit to take the time and money and opportunity of the children of this great democratic republic for the purpose of fitting them for life, for making a living, and for virtuous citizenship should be asked to work for less than $1000 a year in any community or in any state. No one who is unworthy of this minimum salary is fitted to do this work and no such person should be permitted to waste the time and money of the children and to fritter away their opportunity for education.

"It is not for the sake of the teachers that this policy is advocated. Schools are not maintained for the benefit of the teachers. If men and women of ability are not willing to teach for the pay offered them they can quit and do something else for a living, as hundreds of thousands of the best do. It is for the sake of the schools, the children and the prosperity of the people and the strength and safety of the nation that the policy is advocated."

SOCIAL AND DANCE AT
ASSOCIATE HALL

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the 101st Regiment held an enjoyable social and dance at Associate hall last evening, the proceeds of which will help to swell the "welcome home" fund which this organization is engaged in raising in anticipation of the time when the boys of the 101st come marching home to their mothers, wives and sweethearts in the Splendid City.

During an intermission a large mahogany clock, which was donated by Mrs. George B. Marshall, was raffled off by Miss Marion Underwood. The timepiece was won by William Hooley of 1006 Central street. The proceeds of the raffle will be given to a wounded boy of the 101st who was invalided home from France on account of wounds.

Music was furnished by Minerva's orchestra and the following committees were mainly responsible for the successful outcome of the event: Mrs. William H. Merritt, chairman of the 101st auxiliary, and general manager of the dance; assistant, general manager, Miss Mollie O'Sullivan; floor director, Miss Margaret Tobin; assistant, Miss Mary Flanagan, and aids, members of the auxiliary.

The movement was contemplated some time ago by Rev. W. Lathrop Meeker, then of this city, but now of New York.

"One year ago in September I was taken down; couldn't eat, sleep or work. The doctors didn't know exactly what was the matter. Some said I had catarrhal gastritis, some said consumption, and others, cancer. Anyway, I was given up to die.

"A friend persuaded me to try Milk Emulsion. In 2 or 3 weeks, the soreness went out of my lungs, the aching pains began to leave from between my shoulders, and I began to eat and sleep, and work a little. Also the unbearable long, heavy weight in the left side of my stomach, that hung like a huge iron ball, disappeared.

The old rule is, get the stomach and bowels working right, and most ailments start to leave. Strength comes back, flesh is regained, and the whole system begins to right disease. Milk Emulsion is guaranteed, so it costs nothing to try.

Milk Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and purgatives. It promotes appetite and physically puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk Emulsion is strongly recommended in run-down cases, where the body is weak, and you are urged to try Milk Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions, your own health will be promptly refunded. ## FOR AMERICANIZATION

Portuguese Community Hold
Enthusiastic Meeting at
Pearl of Ocean Club

An enthusiastic meeting of the Portuguese community in the interest of Americanization was held at the Pearl of Ocean club Sunday afternoon. The inclemency of the weather failed to dampen the ardor of the Portuguese people for about 100 were present, including a number of women.

The meeting was presided over by Manuel H. Soares, a member of the executive committee on Americanization of the United States, and the speakers were J. B. Sullivan, director of the executive committee on Americanization, who spoke on the opportunities offered by the United States, and the secretary of the board of trade, who spoke on the importance of this movement. Miss Catherine Toldin, a local teacher, who appealed for the attendance of the Portuguese women at these classes, and Edmund Mahoney, a Lowell youth, who spoke in Portuguese to the assembly. Mr. Mahoney was very favorably received and proved to be a very fluent speaker.

The principal speaker of the meeting was J. B. Sullivan, sub-director of the Bureau of Education, who delivered a very stirring address in the Portuguese language. Mr. Sullivan came to this country as a boy and received his education in the schools of this country. Mr. Sullivan began his address by referring to Washington's birthday celebration and the reason therefor, also the celebration in Boston on President Wilson's arrival from Europe and the object of the president's trip. He dwelt upon the past history of Portugal and spoke of such men as Diaz, Vasco da Gama, Cabral, Soares, Amerigo Vesputi, Magellan and Columbus at the court of Portugal. He referred to the time when Lisbon was the capital of the world; when the riches of the orient and the colonies and the position she took regarding slavery; he referred to the literature of Portugal, speaking of Camoes, the poet, and Bernal. He then depicted the Portuguese immigrants arriving in America and the feelings that came to their hearts when they saw the statue of Liberty. He told of the changed conditions they found here and the period of disillusionment that followed as a natural consequence. He dwelt upon the work of the socialists in trying to ferment trouble among the Portuguese people and the hardships the Portuguese people endured. He maintained that the moral standard and industry of the Portuguese people were appreciated by the community and the country. He praised the work that they did for the Red Cross, the Liberty loans and the enlistment of the Portuguese boys in the world war fighting shoulder to shoulder, enduring the hardships of the battlefield, to safeguard the traditions of the glorious history of America.

The opportunities offered by this country and particularly by Lowell to embrace education by the splendid night schools maintained by the city were very ably developed; there were no race or creed distinctions and each person had the opportunity to establish himself solidly in the community. Mr. Sullivan ended his inspiring address by the following appeal:

"America, the watchful, loving mother, invites you to take your place in the ranks of citizenship. She offers you the traditions of her glorious past, the enjoyment of her wonderful future. Opening wide her arms to receive you, she says: 'Come!'"

At the present time there are 12 Portuguese adults in classes and at the meeting held Sunday afternoon 27 who could not speak the English language promised to become students.

ST. MICHAEL'S WOMEN
HOSTS FOR SOLDIERS

At the regular Sunday morning breakfast served to soldiers and sailors spending the week end in Lowell at the K. of C. headquarters, Associate building, the food and service were supplied by the Catholic Women's league of St. Michael's church.

Mrs. George F. Keady and Miss Margaret MacIsaac supervised the serving of the breakfast which was patronized by about 100 fighters. The young women who acted as waitresses were: Mrs. Everett Gaffney, Misses Catherine Kelly, Nellie P. Kelly, Margaret G. Kelly, Anna A. Kelly, Rose Bourke, Alice Gault, Mary McF. Mary Norrey, Louise, Katherine and Anna Egan, Margaret Murphy, Teresa Oldfield, Rita Bourke, Helen McDonald, Loretta Reddy, Zita Gannon, Grace Holmes, Anna Gaffney, Mrs. John J. Conaghan, Mary Gill, Madeline Norrey, Mary Bourke, Kitty Fleming, Madeline Poland, Sadie Smith, Rose Heath, Kitty Grant, Agnes Fleming, Mrs. T. B. Delaney, Lena Fleming, Virginia Stewart, Mary Parnell, Mabel Connor, Catherine McDonald, Vera Bradley, Alice K. Mawn and Rose Bourke.

INCOME TAX PAYMENTS
EARLY THIS YEAR

Income tax payments this year are due earlier than ever before. The first payment date is March 15th, simultaneous with the final due date of the return required by the new revenue law.

"File and Pay by March 15th" is the new slogan of the internal revenue bureau. Collector John F. Malloy is preparing to handle the flood of income tax payments that will reach him between now and the close of business on Saturday, March 15th.

"Early payment of income taxes is of the utmost importance in meeting the treasury's debts brought about by the war," explains Collector Malloy. "The new law names March 15th as the first payment date because there are large obligations outstanding in the form of certificates of indebtedness that must be met on that date."

"The earlier payment this year should cause no hardship to taxpayers, who, generally speaking, have anticipated the enactment of the new law and have set aside a reserve from 1918 income to meet the government tax."

"What is needed now is another practical display of that great spirit of co-operation which has carried over the top every big governmental objective that had to do with the winning of the war. The persons and corporations who are called upon by the new law to pay income and war excess profits taxes on 1918 income have a great vital duty to perform. That it will be done in the thorough American way is a foregone conclusion."

"Every taxpayer who can possibly do so is urged to pay his entire tax when filing his return, on or before March 15th. The installment method, by which one-quarter of the amount may be paid at that time, followed by quarterly payments on June 15th, Sept. 15th and Dec. 15th, is intended for taxpayers whose financing of the tax at one time would tend to upset local financial conditions."

"Don't wait until the final due date, March 15th, for filing your return or paying your tax. Let us eliminate the last minute rush, so far as possible. By evenly distributing the load, between now and March 15th, every taxpayer will have a chance to get any needed advice and aid in determining his liability and preparing his return. The internal revenue bureau has placed its entire energies into meeting the needs of taxpayers in this respect. Also, by distributing the load, the government machinery will be better able to stand the strain that this great effort entails."

"Co-operation is the spirit of the time. It is vital to the income tax. Let us all get together and establish another record for Americanism."

PRICE OF BOOZE SOARS

President's Signing Bill Imposing Liquor Tax Makes
Lowell Business Brisk

Lowell today was in the throes of a liquor rush which would make the ordinary bargain sale on a Saturday night look like a Sunday school picnic, as the result of the tip which has gone out that President Wilson will sign the $6,000,000,000 revenue bill which will send the price of bottled goods to a hitherto unheard of level, making it necessary for thirsty Lowellites to pay nearly double for the principal alcoholic beverages.

So bullish has the wholesale liquor market become that one of the vital ingredients of the most popular cocktails has practically been wiped out of the market. French vermouth, without which the dry Martini and the Bronx are insipid, is hardly to be had at any price.

The feverish buying started early in the week, when one or two of the larger dealers in rum passed the tip out among their friends that "now was the time to buy." Wholesalers and purveyors who are used to dispensing liquor on a large scale are letting go all but enough to last them until June 30. After that it will be useless except for exhibition purposes, a reminder of the days that were. They cannot afford to hold any more than they can sell in the last few moist months for the new revenue bill imposes a tax of $2.50 on ardent spirits.

Gin, which is the base of nearly all cocktails fit to drink, is soaring every minute. Those who have not provided themselves with enough of it to last a reasonable time are out of luck, according to the dealers, for in the next 21 hours gin will skyrocket beyond the reach of any but the most plethoric purses. Many homes are doomed to be without cocktails from now on and many a dinner that might have been will be unable to get cranked up.

One wholesaler, speaking on the sudden switch to prices said:

"No, there is no danger of Lowell going dry before its time. There is plenty of liquor and there are plenty of whippers, but a man will have to be pretty 'well fixed' from now on if he intends to buy drinks at retail. The only chance for the man with a moderate thirst and a moderate income is to figure it up. And there isn't much chance there. Wholesale prices will skyrocket the minute the revenue bill is signed and retail prices will double."

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Joseph Maher of Concord, N. H., and Miss Rose Levesque of 50 Cabot street, this city, were married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the ceremony being performed at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. The bride was handsomely attired in georgette crepe with pearl trimmings and carried a large bouquet. She was attended by an uncle of the bridegroom, Mr. Israel Maher of Concord, N. H., while the bridegroom's witness was his father, Mr. Michael Maher also of Concord. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride and was followed by a reception. The large couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left this town on a two weeks' trip to New York and upon their return they will make their home at 20 Cabot street.

Mr. Martin J. O'Leary, cook at Camp Devens, and Miss Mary Florence Turgeon, were united in marriage at St. Michael's church at 7:30 o'clock mass Saturday morning. The officiating clergyman was Rev. A pretty wedding took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Joseph's rectory, when Mr. Bartholomew Dubois, a well known young man of this city, and Miss Irene Valentine Dupont, a charming young woman of Pawtucket, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. The bride was handsomely attired in georgette crepe trimmed with pearls and carried a large bouquet. She was given away by her father, Mr. Anthony Dupont, while the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Philip Dubois. At the close of the ceremony a brief reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 768 Moody street and later the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on their return they will make their home in this city. Present at the wedding from out-of-town was a brother of the bride, Mr. Emilian Dupont of Ontario, Canada.

Last Friday evening the bride was tendered a reception at her home by a group of friends, who presented her with a handsome hound electric lamp. A buffet luncheon was given and a buffet luncheon was served.

NOW'S TIME TO REPAIR
FARM IMPLEMENTS

All users of farm implements should anticipate, so far as practical, the necessity for repairs and replacements sufficiently in advance of the working season to make it possible to put their implements in good working condition before the spring operations begin. This is the gist of a telegram from the secretary of agriculture to E. W. McCullough, of Chicago, secretary of the National Implement and Vehicle association. Secretary Houston's telegram was in response to one from Mr. McCullough advising him that manufacturers of and dealers in all lines of farm operating equipment have agreed, in the interest of economy and conservation, to join in urging farmers to inspect their equipment and to order necessary parts in advance of the time they are needed.

Manufacturers and dealers declare that if they can know sufficiently in advance the needs of the farmers for repair parts, these parts can be supplied when they are needed. If the needs are not known to the manufacturers and dealers until the actual time for use, troublesome and costly delays are likely to be caused—delays that may be felt in decreased production at harvest.

JEWS OF AMERICA
IN THE WAR

That the Jews of America have contributed more than their proportionate quota to the armed forces of the United States in the war is shown in the official "War Record of American Jews" which has just been issued by the American Jewish committee, through its office of war records, at 31 Union square, New York City.

While the report does not pretend to be a complete record of the activities of all Jews who responded to the call of their country it is sufficiently comprehensive to indicate the important part that they played. The total number of Jews in the military and naval service of the United States is estimated at from 165,000 to 200,000, or from four to five per cent. of the total personnel of the American forces at the time the armistice was signed. The Jewish element in the general population of the United States is about three per cent. The Jews of America have therefore, according to these figures, contributed at least one-third more than their proportionate share.

This excess is explained by the presence of about 10,000 Jewish volunteers in the service. Other contributing factors were to be found in the more effective operation of the draft system in the thickly populated urban centers of the north and east, which happen also to be the centers of Jewish population, and in the fact that the majority of exemptions on industrial grounds were chiefly in agriculture, mining and in the metal industries, where Jews are not extensively employed.

The files of the office of Jewish war records already contain over 100,000 individual records, of which about 80,000 have been minutely classified and tabulated. The number of Jewish commissioned officers so far recorded include 3162 in the army, 205 in the navy and 40 in the marine corps. It is probable, however, that these numbers will be more than doubled when the record will finally be completed.

The readiness of American Jews to fight for their country is shown by the fact that 72 per cent. of those in the army were in the combat branches, while in the army as a whole only about 50 per cent. were in these branches. Their casualties amount to about 10,000, of whom probably 2000 were killed in action. Other evidence of the quality of their courage is found in the long list of citations for valor furnished in the report and in the testimony of commanding officers like General Bell, Lieutenant Colonel Whitteley and Captain Harrigan, who trained the Jewish recruits in camp or led them in action.

"From information now at hand," concludes the report, which is signed by Julian Leavitt, the director, "it becomes apparent that the record of Jewish war service, when fully developed, will demonstrate conclusively that the same qualities which enable the Jew to survive through the centuries—his capacity to endure, without breaking, prolonged and intense physical strain, his initiative, his elasticity of mind, his facility for organization, and above all, his idealism—have also enabled him to fit himself successfully into a democratic army fighting for world democracy."

JOBS FOR SOLDIERS
BECOMING SCARCER

Examiner Cronin, of the Lowell United States employment bureau told The Sun yesterday that the situation in Lowell as regards employment of returning soldiers and sailors is far from satisfactory at the present time. The boys are coming home in ever-increasing numbers. The labor conditions in the city are such that work for them is becoming increasingly difficult to procure.

Mr. Cronin hopes that the manufacturers and others who employ labor will assist him in his task of finding employment for the boys who were willing to give their lives for the cause of democracy, and who on returning find themselves out of work, and in many cases, out of funds, and requests that all employers who have positions open will get in touch with him at once in order to speed the work of placing the men in profitable employment.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 25.—Herr Scheide has been named Bavarian premier in succession to Kurt Eisner, who was assassinated last week. GENEVA, Feb. 25.—Prince Leopold, former commander-in-chief of the German army on the Russian front, has been imprisoned at Munich on suspicion of being one of the instigators of the murder of Premier Eisner.

A provisional ministry has been constituted, consisting of nine members. Instead of eight. Among the ministers is Prof. Friedrich Reiser of the University of Munich. It is said the land-

(By the Associated Press).—Nearly all the Bavarian delegates to the German national assembly who left for Munich as soon as the assassination of Premier Eisner was announced, have returned here. Only a few were able to cross the frontier, and one of them, Prof. Maude, was arrested upon his arrival at Munich.

IRISH ENVOY ARRIVES AT

DUBLIN, Feb. 25.—Sean O'Cealligh, who yesterday presented himself to the peace conference at Paris as an accredited envoy of the Irish government, was formerly in the business here, and was secretary of the Gaelic League. He was not prominent in the disorders on Easter Sunday, 1916, but was deported immediately after the government had suppressed the rebellion. He was released late in December, 1918, and was re-arrested in February, 1917, but was not detained long. He was not placed under arrest last May, when many members of his party were placed in jail.

He is a member of the Dublin corporation, and was elected to parliament on the Sinn Fein ticket in the recent general elections. He was a member of the delegation appointed to present the freedom of the city to Pres. Wilson, and when no reply to the invitation to visit Dublin was received from the president, he obtained a passport to go to Paris to inquire why. When he arrived in Paris, he announced that he was a representative of the Irish government and his action was approved by his party. O'Cealligh was married last year to Miss Mary Ryan, professor of modern languages at the National University.

TYLER PARK SCHOOL PLOT
IS NOT APPROVED

The following letter was today sent by the Lowell school committee to the mayor and the municipal council:

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 21, 1919.
To the Mayor and Municipal Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen:
In the matter of petitions of George P. Putnam and Benjamin A. Stacey, et al. respecting a new school in the Highlands district, the school committee has leave to state that the petitioners have not convinced them that the former action taken in this matter should be rescinded. They, therefore, re-state their former conviction and recommend that 70,000 square feet of land in the rear of the present Morey school be purchased and an 18-room addition to said school be built thereon as soon as possible.

RICHARD E. WALSH, chairman,
WILLIAM L. CROWLEY,
JULIAN B. KRYES,
WILLIAM R. THOMPSON,
GEN. GARDNER, School Committee.

The committee's statement

The following statement has been issued by the committee on their position in the matter of the proposed school in the Highlands:

"In voting to withdraw upon the petition for a new school near Tyler park, in the Highlands, in preference to an addition to the Morey school, the school committee desire to make public the facts upon which they base their action.

"As a matter of location, a new school in the vicinity of Tyler park would be some distance west of the center of school population in the Highlands. The present membership of the six grammar and primary schools making up this district is 2225. Of these, only 119 live west of the line of Foster and Parker streets. The present need is to relieve the overcrowding rather than to develop new territory. Therefore, it seems unreasonable to place the new school to the westward merely to accommodate these 119 pupils.

"It may be said that once the new school is built, the locality will develop faster and the inequality soon be made up. But it is not certain that the Middlesex Village and Princeton street sections will develop faster than that southward of the Morey school toward the Chestnut street line. In any event, it must be some years before the development becomes great enough to move the center of school population very much westward of where it now is.

"Of course, some people will be dissatisfied that this is one of the disadvantages of living in the outskirts of the city. The extreme distance from the city line at Middlesex Village to the Morey school does not exceed a mile and two-thirds, no greater than children have to come in other sections. In Belvidere and Pawtucketville, for example. Furthermore, no young children are obliged to go this distance as the school at Middlesex Village takes care of all up to the seventh grade.

"More important than the question of distance or location, however, is that of economy in administration and maintenance. The modern practice is to do away with small buildings and to concentrate in large schools. Aside from the reduction in cost of heating plant, coal and the like, large schools mean better teaching. Pupils can be classified and the energy of the teaching staff can be applied more effectively. Another school in the Highlands would only increase the duplication of effort that already exists because of the location of three grammar schools within a short distance of each other. The committee has come to the conclusion that the policy of erecting few-

FOR TEACHERS

Doubling the salaries of teachers within the next five years, and then adding 50 per cent before another 10 years have passed, so that the minimum average salary for teachers will be $1500—this is the program urged by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. Dr. Claxton says:

"It is only by very large increases in pay of teachers that we may hope to improve our schools appreciably. Small increases of 5, 10 or 20 per cent will not avail, for they will not be sufficient to hold in the schools men and women of superior ability.

"Teachers are now paid less for their work than any other class of workers, and the increase in their pay in the last few years has in no wise been in keeping with the increase in pay of other workers, or with the increase in the cost of living. While the cost of living has increased approximately 80 per cent—food, 85 per cent; clothing, 106 per cent; drugs, 103 per cent; fuel, 52 per cent; and house furnishing goods, 75 per cent—the salaries of teachers have increased only about 12 per cent. The purchasing power of the salary of the teacher in our public schools is therefore, only about 65 per cent of what it was four years ago.

"Many of the better teachers are leaving the schools and their places are taken by men and women of less native ability, less education and culture, and less training and experience. Many of the places are not filled at all. As an inevitable result the character of the schools is being lowered just at a time when it ought to be raised to a much higher standard.

"Students now entering the normal schools to prepare for teaching are not of as good quality as they were formerly, which means that the standards of the schools must continue to fall. In some normal schools the enrollment is far less than in former years.

"The only remedy is larger pay for teachers. If school boards, legislatures, and county and city councils would immediately announce the policy of doubling the average salary of teachers within the next five years and of adding not less than 50 per cent more within the 10 years following the expiration of this period, so that at the end of 15 years the average salary of public school teachers would be not less than $1500—about one and a half times larger than they receive at present—and then take steps for carrying out this policy, much good would be accomplished thereby at once.

"Such a policy and such a prospect would attract to the schools more men and women of superior ability and would hold them, working contentedly and, therefore, profitably for the children and the public welfare. Such increase in salary should carry with it an increase of not less than 25 per cent in the average length of the school term, which is now less than 180 days.

"To those who are not acquainted with past conditions and who have given the matter no intelligent thought, the increase recommended may seem large, but in fact it is not. It would in most states mean a range of salaries from $1000 to $2000. No person who is fit to take the time and money and opportunity of the children of this great democratic republic for the purpose of fitting them for life, for making a living, and for virtuous citizenship should be asked to work for less than $1000 a year in any community or in any state. No one who is unworthy of this minimum salary is fitted to do this work and no such person should be permitted to waste the time and money of the children and to fritter away their opportunity for education.

"It is not for the sake of the teachers that this policy is advocated. Schools are not maintained for the benefit of the teachers. If men and women of ability are not willing to teach for the pay offered them they can quit and do something else for a living, as hundreds of thousands of the best do. It is for the sake of the schools, the children and the prosperity of the people and the strength and safety of the nation that the policy is advocated."

SOCIAL AND DANCE AT
ASSOCIATE HALL

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the 101st Regiment held an enjoyable social and dance at Associate hall last evening, the proceeds of which will help to swell the "welcome home" fund which this organization is engaged in raising in anticipation of the time when the boys of the 101st come marching home to their mothers, wives and sweethearts in the Spindle City.

During an intermission a large mahogany clock, which was donated by Mrs. George B. Marshall, was raffled off by Miss Marion Underwood. The timepiece was won by William Hoey, of 1005 Central street. The proceeds of the raffle will be given to a wounded boy of the 101st who was invalided home from France on account of wounds.

Music was furnished by Miner Doyle's orchestra and the following committee were mainly responsible for the successful outcome of the event: Mrs. William H. Merritt, chairman of the 101st auxiliary, and general manager of the dance; assistant general manager, Miss Mollie O'Sullivan; floor director, Miss Margaret Tobin; assistant, Miss Mary Flanagan, and aids, members of the auxiliary.

SPARTACAN LEADER HAS BEEN KILLED

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Herr Puhndorf, Spartacan leader in the Rottrop district in Westphalia, has been killed while resisting arrest by government troops. The death of Puhndorf, which restored order in Rottrop, has arrived in the Rottrop district and will be reinforced by an army corps at Wilhelmshaven.

Prevent Elections
BERLIN, Monday, Feb. 24.—Spartacan forces have prevented municipal elections from being held at Düsseldorf, armed bands on Saturday demanded from some election precincts, the list of voters, and as a result elections could not be held in those areas. Other Spartacan bands armed with rifles and hand grenades appeared at most of the polling booths on Sunday evening and seized ballot boxes and lists of voters, which they burned or threw into the Rhine. Lively fighting is reported in some election precincts.

Düsseldorf Surrounded
BERLIN, Monday, Feb. 24.—Düsseldorf has been surrounded by Spartacan bands which have entrenched themselves to prevent government troops from entering. The city is isolated from the rest of the country. At Oberhausen, Spartacans have seized the bank deposits and extinguished factory fires.

A state of siege has been proclaimed at Wattenscheid, in Westphalia, where government troops have arrived.

Fighting at Mannheim
HAMBURG, Monday, Feb. 24.—A telegram from Karlsruhe reports that fighting continues at Mannheim, with varying success for the possession of the newspaper Volkstimmung. Everything is quiet in Baden, with the exception of Mannheim and the state of siege has been raised.

Revolution Fails
LONDON, Feb. 25.—The attempt of Bavarian Spartacans to organize a revolution in Baden and establish a soviet government has failed except at Mannheim. The energetic action of the Baden government, which immediately marched government troops into Karlsruhe, arrested radical leaders and proclaimed a state of siege, has apparently killed the movement, according to advices received here.

CRIMINALLY INSANE!

Analyst's Verdict After Studying These Pictures of William II

BY A. E. GELDOF.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 24.—Through the Washington Bureau of the News-Enterprise association, S. G. Daoud, one of the most prominent psychoanalysts of the United States, has written for The Sun a striking character analysis of ex-Kaiser William of Germany.

Mr. Daoud has taken a series of the ex-Kaiser's photographs, drawn from the closest study and drawn from them his deduction that William II is criminally insane. He predicts that if the baby butcher is left alone in his castle, unpunished by the allies, he will either commit suicide or soon die from inaction.

Daoud is a Syrian, possessed in large degree the mystic insight into human character that marks the eastern races. He has written and lectured much on psychological subjects. Until recently he conducted a school of business psychology in Washington, where he was consulted by hundreds of prominent and plain people.

William II, former emperor of Germany, made himself the most despised ruler in history.

Rameses II may have been as bad as Nero may have been as cruel and atrocious, but no other ruler has earned for himself the hatred of the entire world as has William II.

All the good qualities associated with the German name were sacrificed to gratify the grotesque ambitions of one madman.

The waging of a treacherous war upon unsuspecting humanity, the ravaging of Belgium, the invasion of France, the criminal attacks on defenseless women and children, the burning of the cities and the young in Syria and Armenia, the creation of a partnership with an enemy of humanity, the Turkish war, but symptoms of a disease which had been eating into the vitals and mind of a madman who, instead of being a ruler of a great empire, should have been confined to a hospital for the criminally insane.

Looking at the first photograph of the ex-Kaiser, one's impression is that of a person with excessive self-esteem. A really great person never poses. In this pose William looks as if trying to make the impression that he wants you to find in him a great personage, a brave man.

photographic reproduction; it lacks so much in conformity with all his other portraits, in every one of which the ex-Kaiser's abnormal ego is plainly noticeable.

No. 4. Behold a murderer! This photograph shows that if the ex-Kaiser had been born in an environment of poverty; had he been one of the masses, dependent on his manual labor or his wife for a living, there would have been no crime too atrocious for him to undertake. The receding forehead, the sunken temples, the dominating nose and the receding chin are the features of a born criminal. The high arch in the nose is like that of Pharaoh. William has borrowed some of the traits of Pharaoh—drunkenness for power, particularly.

No. 5 shows a man who is almost like an African savage in fondness for feathers and fancy headgear. The profile again demonstrates the ex-Kaiser's criminal instincts.

No. 6 reveals extreme vanity, noticeable in the Kaiser's persistent efforts to hide his defective arm, as he is doing in this photograph.

No. 7 shows well the Kaiser's wide mouth, indicating that he is a better speaker than listener. The upper lip shows extreme sensitiveness. The lower lip considerable warmth of love and passion, but not carried to an extreme. The closed lips, indicating firmness, are merely a part of his pose. In this photograph, as in No. 4, while his lips are tightly closed, his jaws are open.

Wearing his mustache turned up at the familiar angle demonstrates vanity. The natural growth of the mustache is down, and a man who trains it to grow up shows conceit.

No. 8 shows most strikingly the drooping eyes; a clear sign of trickery and cunning. The fact that his ear is even with his eye is another indication of cunning. The normal man's ear is a trifle higher than his eyes. The full lower jaw and the high cheek bone show magnificence, as well as fondness for good things to eat.

No. 9 differs greatly from photograph No. 4. Yet they are the same man at different ages. Circumstances, mode of life, and other conditions have brought out in No. 4 the qualities within the mask of No. 2.

No. 10 with closely set eyes, together with the narrow nose, and the high cheeks apparent in Nos. 1 and 4, indicates a most vicious temper if aroused.

All these photographs clearly demonstrate the ex-Kaiser to be a megalomaniac, who ought to have been confined in an asylum for the criminally insane. What he has accomplished because he was not so confined, the whole world knows.

If the ex-Kaiser were to be let alone, his power lost forever; if he were not punished by the allies, his insanity might take on a different form, and there would become a raving maniac.

There is no doubt in my mind that if he is permitted to remain in Holland he will either commit suicide or die of grief and self-commiseration. He cannot live unless wielding power.

As the funeral cortege was going and leaving the church the sanctuary choir, of which the deceased was a member, acted as a guard of honor. # NAVY'S BIG PART IN WAR

Asst. Sec. Roosevelt Reveals Many Interesting Facts on Arriving at Boston

Naval Establishment Over There Practically Demobilized—Wireless Station Sold

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—Practical demobilization of all the United States naval establishment in European waters; the sale of the great Lafayette wireless station at Bordeaux to the French government at a price of approximately $1,000,000, and many other unpublished facts of American naval activities in the war were announced here yesterday by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, who arrived with President Wilson on the George Washington.

For the last month Mr. Roosevelt has been in Europe demobilizing the naval forces, liquidating contracts and settling claims. Good progress was made in all of the work, he said, and the British and French governments have met the United States half way in the settlements of claims and disposal of material.

Big Part in Beating U-Boats

On the trip over Mr. Roosevelt disclosed to the officers and men of the George Washington, how the United States had spent more than $50,000,000 laying the mine barrage against submarines in the North sea and how by the navy offensive which the United States brought into the war, the submarines were driven away from the coasts, away from harbor mouths out to sea, where their deadly work would be more difficult, and how the entry of the navy into the war initiated an effective campaign against the U-boats, which therefore had been conducting the offensive.

54 Shore Bases Over There

"Now realize," said Mr. Roosevelt, "that the American navy had 54 shore bases of various kinds in European waters and the Azores, including destroyer stations and mine laying bases, although the majority were naval aviation bases from which more than 200 American seaplanes operated. We had more than 70,000 men at these bases and on the ships operating from them. We leased docks and buildings and in addition, constructed hundreds of hangars, piers, hospitals, storehouses and other buildings. Almost 50,000 officers and men now have been sent home and all the living stations and bases with a very few exceptions have been evacuated. All material of future value has been sent home. been sold to the Red Cross and the army and what remained of lumber and other salvage material has been sold to the British and French governments.

$1,000,000 for Wireless Station
"The great Lafayette radio station near Bordeaux was intended to insure communication between Washington and the army and navy in case the cable system was put out of communication or interfered with by the German submarines. It had eight towers and could communicate with the United States day and night. It was built by the navy. I arranged with the French government that we should complete the station, which is two-thirds finished, and they will then take it over at what it cost us, about twenty-two million francs."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

KITT'S THEATRE

The entertainment at Kitt's this week is vaudeville in every sense of the word. In the confusion of "real vaudeville" however, the offering of Madame Dore's Imperial quintet, five above the average male and female opera singers, is a sure enough treat for those who still insist that sweet and well controlled vocal music has it on all other kinds of music.

Their offering is staged with a really scenic setting. A great deal of credit is due to the scenic artist who has made the two big audiences yesterday and today to the fact that the singers take great interest in their work and evidently work hard to make it as enjoyable as possible.

To have a good impression in the minds of persons in the audience that the show is good, Manager Kitt put on both days next to his closing act, Walling and LeFavor, pantomimists.

Leona Arnold and Jack Albin offered a novelty in that the case is covered and Jack is "mashed" by the lovely and singing Jack W. O'Brien and Margaret Webb after a piano playing and "mashed" turn that seemed to please.

Other acts get away with a little quiet, pretty and interesting. Little Gordon and America opened the bill and they were a success. Little Gordon is so good natured as he sings and sings that the audience liked him very much and he is a new weekly called Kitt's substitutes for Kitt's weekly and is fair.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Madame X" the great play of another love is this week at the Lowell Opera House, and the reception accorded it by last night's audience, which taxed the spacious playhouse to its limit, is to be taken as a criterion. This wonderful play which has thrilled the hearts of millions of theatre-goers in the past years, is day for day, a most successful work. Another feature, which may have been to some degree responsible for the record-breaking crowd which came to see "Madame X" last night, was the presence in the cast of the two leading people of the Haverhill Emersons, Miss Jane Emerson and Walter Gilbert, Julian Nor and Miss Salisbury have exchanged places with their brother artists for the week end, and next week will have them back in their accustomed places.

Miss Jane Emerson, the leading lady was superb. Real ability, that has been fostered in the warmth of successful training, is conspicuous in her every move. And yet it is not the type of ability that cries out to make itself known. It is almost subtle, and one realizes it without really knowing why.

Mr. Walter Gilbert, leading man, can best be described reiterantly—he is a leading man with all that it implies. Tall, well built, and betraying none of the unmistakable evidences of immaturity although, truth to tell, he is still a young man, he impressed one from the beginning with his ability to do, and formed a most acceptable associate for Miss Emerson in the leading roles.

As for the play itself, one would be overreaching on the spectators' pleasure if he should attempt to describe it here

NEED HAVE NO FEAR OF BOLSHEVIKI CAMPAIGN

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 25.—"People of America or any other real democracy need have no fear of the Bolsheviki campaign being waged throughout the world," said Arthur Bullard, a representative of the committee on public information who was here today on his way from Vladivostok to Washington.

"Bolshevism," he continued, "can never thrive except in a state where the people are pitifully oppressed and where the masses have no other hope of righting their wrongs."

No massacre in Moscow
He upheld the testimony of John Reed, writer and socialist, given recently before the senate committee investigating lawless propaganda in this country that there had been no massacre in Moscow during the Reds' stay there.

ENTERTAINERS FOR CAMP DEVENS

More than a score of entertainers have volunteered their services to the war activities secretary of Lowell council 72, K. of C., to go to Camp Devens to furnish entertainment for the wounded soldiers.

These offers are a result of an article appearing in The Sun, last evening, in which it was stated that the

ALL LOUD IN THEIR PRAISE OF "NEUTRONE PRESCRIPTION 99"

A working man having a bottle of "Neutrone Prescription 99" was asked how it was helping him.

"Helping me," he replied. "Why, there is nothing on earth like it. You don't know how my poor swollen, stiff joints and muscles pained and burned. I was nearly crazy with suffering and the worry of being so much time and pay."

"Before I knew about 'Neutrone Prescription 99' I tried all kinds of tablets and ointments, but one bottle of 'Neutrone Prescription 99' helped me so much that I am never without it now. All pain and swelling is gone and I feel like doing things."

"Neutrone Prescription 99" certainly must be a wonder—the doctors' remedy for rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, and leading druggists everywhere.

secretary, Laurence Sampson, intends to conduct a campaign for talent to furnish the much-needed entertainment and diversion for the wounded and convalescent doughboys at the confinement. All the volunteers signified their willingness to go at any time that the secretary might designate, and seemed glad of an opportunity to have a part in this helpful work.

This response is very gratifying to Secretary Sampson and the other members of the council who are interested in providing entertainment for the wounded boys at Camp Devens, and it gives them hope that it will be possible to arrange for a steady flow of talent to brighten the dull days and nights of the sufferers.

One of the plans now under discussion is to have a miniature calaret staged in the different wards of the base hospital. As many of the men are unable to get out of bed, the show will of necessity be brought to them. It is planned to choose a few singers and one or two monologue artists who will go from one ward to the other.

CLEMENCEAU SOON TO RETURN TO WORK

PARIS, Feb. 25.—Premier Clemenceau's progress is such that he is now classified as a convalescent. Latest reports indicate that he will soon return to work. The greatest difficulty experienced by his physicians, is in keeping him in his apartment. While at first it was very hard to prevent him from exerting himself and talking, he now wants to be taken out of doors.

A delegation of Australians last evening conveyed to Premier Hughes a message from three organizations of Australian soldiers serving in Belgium, expressing their admiration for M. Clemenceau, and their hope for his speedy recovery.

Grill Coffin Today
Emile Coffin, who shot the premier, will be interrogated today by Captain Bouchardon of the Paris military court. Several arrests were made yesterday of persons having political inclinations similar to those of Coffin.

A Havis report issued at 11 o'clock, last night said:

"Premier Clemenceau's condition remains satisfactory and there are no complications. He is resting."

COURT FORBIDS STRIKE

Howard and Rogers of Lowell, petitioned for an injunction to restrain the union from further action, and Judge Chase has forbidden the continuance of the strike. It is understood that Deputy Sheriff George Stiles left Cambridge this noon on business connected with the issuing of the injunction.

The following men, officers and members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Lowell Local No. 553, were named in the bill in equity filed by Mr. Quai Joseph R. Salomon, William H. Dany, Joseph M. Richard, John S. Mors, Henry H. Lester Hall, Joseph P. Hurley, Thomas Keene, Adam Myrick, Harold M. Roberts and John A. Ryan.

Their names were called by Clerk Putnam, as is the custom in such cases, and four of the men were in court and responded as their names were called. Asked if they desired to be heard in opposition to the petition, they replied that they did not. They were not represented by counsel.

The general contractor for the St. John's hospital annex is Daniel Walker, who of course is not a party to the trouble which has been brought into the courts of Middlesex county. Derby for some time has maintained his business as an "open shop." Nearly a dozen of his men employed at the hospital job are understood to be union men. It is understood all his electrical workers employed on this job are extremely anxious that work be resumed.

As the matter now stands, the court having granted the injunction against the Electrical Workers' union and ordered the strike not to continue, if it should be continued, it is possible this fact would be construed to be an act in contempt of court. Apparently the court has given its approval that Derby continue with his work at the annex. So far as this end of the case is concerned evidently the next move must be started by counsel representing the Electrical Workers' union.

FIRE IN COTTON WASTE STORE HOUSE

But for the quick response and efficient work of the fire department, the old Middlesex North Agricultural society building in Gorham street, now occupied as a storehouse by the Cotton Waste Co., would probably have been destroyed this afternoon, when a lively blaze broke out in the north all of the wooden structure. The firemen were badly handicapped in their work owing to the fact that all the openings at that end of the building, including the windows and doors, were blocked with cotton bales. By tearing down a part of the wall, however, the members of the department were able to gain admittance to the building and succeeded in confining the fire to the oil with comparatively small damage.

The blaze was started by boys who had lighted a grass fire at the end of the building and as soon as it was discovered an alarm was sounded from box 48 at 12:50 o'clock. A portion of the department responded in brief time and shortly after the arrival of the men several lines of hose had been laid. Torrents of water were poured on the outside of the wooden structure, but the fire had worked its way through the partitions to the second story, where hundreds of cotton bales are stored. Inasmuch as an entrance could be gained to the building through doors or windows, the firemen used their axes to good advantage on the end of the wall and pretty soon several lines of hose were playing on the lively and threatening blaze. After about a half-hour's work the firefighters succeeded in putting out the fire before it reached the cotton bales. The damage was confined to the oil of the structure.

WASHINGTON BONE DRY

Bars Go Up Under Provision of New War Revenue Bill, Signed Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Except for foreign embassies and legations, Washington went bone dry today under a provision of the new revenue law withdrawing the immunity which the capital heretofore has enjoyed from the local amendment forbidding the importation of intoxicants into prohibition territory.

Hundreds of shipments of liquor on their way from Baltimore were held up outside the district lines, having failed to get within the zone before the bars went up. For days express facilities, motor trucks, interurban lines and railroads between Washington and Baltimore have been congested with liquor shipments or with citizens making personal trips to the nearest liquor vending point.

Embassies and legations of foreign governments are not affected by the bone dry provision, according to the internal revenue bureau, although no formal ruling has been given on this point.

MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR SPEAKER OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Representative Campbell of Kansas was mentioned today as a possible third candidate in the republican contest for the speakership of the next house. He said he had not reached a decision. The republican conference, called for Thursday night, is expected to name the speaker. Representative Gillett of Massachusetts and Representative Mann of Illinois, are the only avowed candidates, and managers of both claim the nomination.

SISTER RAPHAEL DEAD

Former Director of St. John's Hospital Passed Away Last Evening

The many Lowell friends of Sister Raphael, director of the Carney hospital in Boston, will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred last evening at the hospital in Boston. Sister Raphael, who was 57 years of age, was director of St. John's hospital in this city for three years, going to Boston about eight years ago. Deceased was born in Perryville, Me., and has no known relatives in this part of the country. Before entering the order of the Sisters of Charity she was known as Miss Jones.

Sister Raphael left Lowell in 1916 after serving as director of St. John's for three years and during her stay in Lowell she gained a reputation as an able and lovable executive. She directed the large hospital staff in a most efficient manner and both patients and the hospital staff were sorely grieved at her departure and found consolation only in the knowledge that she was to enter a larger field of activity.

At the Carney hospital, one of the largest in New England, she elaborated her already excellent reputation and the nurses and doctors of that institution will mourn her departure. She was succeeded as director of St. John's by Sister Mary Clare, the present executive.

ICE CARNIVAL AT SHEDD PARK

If freezing weather occurs tonight and tomorrow morning the postponed ice carnival will be held tomorrow afternoon at Shedd Park at 3 o'clock. Supt. Keenan of the park department looked at the ice last night and feels fairly sure that the committee will be able to put over the event tomorrow. No skating will be allowed at the park today, as water shows beneath a smooth but thin coating of ice, and he wants to keep the surface in good shape for the carnival.

DOESN'T WANT FIRE HOUSE ABOLISHED

Commissioner George E. Marchand stated this morning that there had been a misinterpretation of his attitude at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the municipal council when it was discussing the annual budget and its effect on the fire department. He said the impression had gotten round that he was in favor of the abolition of the Westford street house, but that this was entirely untrue. He admits making some remarks in a facetious vein about "some man proposing the abolition of the house," but that he supposed the remark would be taken in that spirit.

"I will never vote for the abolition of that house," said Commissioner Marchand, "and I will not vote for any proposition that will do away with the house. Give them four good horses and fix up the chimney there and they'll be able to take care of conditions in that section of the city."

Signs War Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Wilson arrived in Washington at five o'clock this morning from Boston, where he landed yesterday from the George Washington. Because of the early hour, Mrs. Wilson and the president remained on their special train some time before going to the White House.

At the request of the president, there was no formal reception at the station, but a large crowd was on hand when Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left their private car and walked through the station to a waiting automobile.

On reaching the desk, he briefly set to work on matters requiring his attention, which had been accumulating since he left Paris 19 days ago.

He was faced with a busy week before his departure about March 5 for the return trip to Paris. This afternoon he was to preside at a cabinet meeting while tomorrow night he has a dinner engagement with members of the senate and house foreign affairs committees to discuss the proposed constitution of the League of Nations.

Thursday he will review a parade in honor of returned District of Columbia soldiers. No other engagements had been made, so far as was made known, but many requests to see him on various matters were awaiting him.

President Wilson has been absent from Washington nearly three months, having left Dec. 3 for New York, where he embarked on the George Washington for Brazil.

The president signed the six billion dollar war revenue bill about his train last night.

The measure carries a rider making the District of Columbia bone dry.

son said that the matter was up to the school board as far as choosing a site was concerned.

Contrary to expectations, the council did not discuss appropriations at all. At the request of counsel for Lowell policemen, the council voted to give a hearing on the petition of the policemen for one day off in eight, next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10:05. Commissioner Murphy was absent. A hearing was held on the petition of the Standard Oil Co. for permission to maintain gasoline tanks in Main st. and the matter later referred to Commissioner Morse.

A hearing was also held on the petition of Isaac Bernstein for garage and gasoline at King and Jackson streets. It was then referred to Commissioner Morse.

Morcy School Question

Mayor Thompson read a communication from the school committee, recommending that an addition be built on the Morcy school at the earliest possible moment.

Commissioner Morse said that he believed that the petitioners for a new school in the Highlands should be given a hearing before the municipal council.

Mayor Thompson said that the matter of choosing a site was wholly up to the school board.

Commissioner Donnelly said that the school committee had already given a hearing on the matter.

The mayor said that there had been no petition for a hearing before the council.

25 YEARS TO PAY WAR DEBT

Will Cost American People
About $1,200,000,000 a
Year For Quarter Century

Net War Debt, With Deductions
For Loans to Allies,
$18,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—It will cost the American people about $1,200,000,000 a year for the next 25 years to pay off the war debt, according to estimates of the treasury. This calculation is made on the assumption that the net war debt with deductions for loans to the allies, will be in the neighborhood of $18,000,000,000, interest on this amount at the rate of 4-1/2 per cent would be $765,000,000 a year, to be raised by taxes.

In addition, about $117,000,000 would have to be provided every year as a sinking fund to redeem all bonds in 25 years. This would require a cumulative sinking fund provision of 2.22 per cent. Congress had not yet authorized establishment of a sinking fund as recommended by Secretary Glass.

Treasury officials assert that if this authorization is given, bonds might be bought up on the market each year, or called for redemption at the periods provided in terms under which they were sold.

not of the impressive kind. Every iota of it seemed perfectly natural and much to be expected. In fact, the Ordinary Fellow would have been sorely disappointed had there been less. But not for a minute did he consider himself an outsider; he was a part of it all and there was nobody to dispute his right to that honor.

The Ordinary Fellow from Lowell—in whom Lowell people will undoubtedly be most interested—did not feel a bit out of place in the capital yesterday. Despite Boston's reputation—well earned, in some respects—for coldness and lack of cordiality, there wasn't a bit of it in evidence the day the president came. If you were in Boston, it was pre-supposed that you came to honor the chief executive at one of the most inspiring moments in his career. If you didn't intend to do that you had no right in Boston. And who could have wished it otherwise?

It was a noisy morning in Boston. If you were anywhere near Common-wealth pier it was unusually blatant. And yet there was nothing of the irritating, piercing nature that made you feel that almost anything happened. Even the noises seemed to have dignity. The whistles were tooting in the harbor. The crowds were assembling rapidly. In the early morning everybody seemed to be in a hurry to go somewhere and do something of paramount importance. There was a spirit of haste in the investigating morning air that incubated action and life. Nobody seemed to walk slowly. Yet there was no frenzied excitement.

Danger Ahead! Look Out!

Colds and Grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys and aching back. The kidneys get over-worked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When they slow up, and don't perform their duties, look out, there is trouble brewing.

Kidney and bladder troubles are dangerous, and should not be neglected. If you are compelled to arise from your slumber once or twice during the night, it proves that your kidneys are affected and badly irritated, and if you will take from 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals, you will correct the alkalinity of your secretions, thus giving you an undisturbed sleep and peaceful rest, preparing you for your next day's duties. If you feel dull, irritable and nervous, have headaches, sore or enlarged joints, or frequent kidney action, you should give the kidneys quick relief by taking SEVEN BARKS, which will not only relieve the kidney trouble, but keep your stomach in good condition and your liver active.

Don't neglect your kidney trouble with Best Friends. You will be sorry if you do—it's too serious a matter. Price, 50 cents.—Adv.

Then as the forenoon wore on the bustling died down gradually. There was less room in which to hurry. Gradually, the disconnected lines of people merged into solid masses and he came stationary. The hour of the parade was approaching.

His Vantage Point

The Ordinary Fellow from Lowell chose that part of Summer street near the South station as his vantage point. By the time the parade passed that point it would have been duly organized and would have struck his stride. The pier was only a few minutes' walk up the street and over the viaduct. At 10 o'clock the evolution of the crowds began. For a while there were hurrying passers-by and then the life of the scene seemed to dwindle and people were disinclined to move one way or another. One very good reason for this was that there was no room in which to move.

On in Summer street, extending in either direction as far as one could see, were intermingled lines of sailors armed for military duty. Behind them were Boston's police officers. On either side were the labyrinthine colors of the chameleon crowd.

Now and then a petty officer would march up and down the ranks of sailors with whistled orders and instructions. In the rear ranks of the police a bulky sergeant or veteran lieutenant would tell what was to be done and who should do it and what was not to be done and who should not do it. Unconsciously one's mind reverted to the good old Lowell department when a parade comes around. Policemen are policemen the world over—in Lowell or in Boston.

Then the ropes came. Bands were bellowed forth and the crowd waited not to reason why. There is to be a die—and make room for the ropes.

Finally the stanch cord were unrolled around the stanch posts, elevated structures of whatever upright there was available.

Less Were Aching
The crowd finally got settled and there came the first feeling of monotony. The Ordinary Fellow from Lowell and the super-ordinary people from all over New England had just one, all-consuming wish. They wanted something to happen. It was then 11 o'clock. An hour to go! Oh, boy, more than one pair of legs were aching.

Then something did happen. Across the street in the second story of the Westworth building two young things wanted to sit on the window sill and get a first-hand view of what was going on. It was a tiresome job at best—getting out on a window with nothing but a sheer incline below. First, Friend Brunette essayed it, but nothing doing. She got cold feet or else was wearing warm-weather stockings. Five thousand eyes looked upward and five thousand eyes were disappointed. But the gallant five thousand did not give up their hopes. They wanted company out on that window sill.

Somewhere in the office seem to sense the feelings of the crowd and he suggested to Miss Blonde that she try it. At least that's how it seemed to the crowd below. It was all pantomime to the Ordinary Fellow. Miss Blonde was game and out she came. She perched herself securely on the sill and grinned with the spirit of accomplishment. Then she grasped Miss Brunette's hand and they were all together again for the big procession.

More monotony, 11:30. Would that parade ever come? The sun was playing hide and seek but now it seemed to have decided to stay in one place to see the president. It was a wonderful morning atmospherically.

Airship Shows Up

And just as the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell was looking up at the sky there came from the direction of the pier a low-flying plane. It seemed that every eye in the crowd saw it at the same moment and there went up a harmonious, synchronous hosanna of greeting: "Look at the airship!"

It was one of the speedy naval aircraft and the crowd immediately decided it was from Chatham. Over the Westworth building it went and one got an idea that the aviator was trying to get a glimpse of the Misses Brunette and Blondie in the second-story window. Be that as it may, he was flying very low. The top of the building shaded him from sight for a few seconds and then back he came and took up his course toward the pier again. One could hear the steady, drum-drum-drum top-like buzzing of the perfect motor as he flew overhead. His "beat" seemed to gladden like a shining, silvery bird in the sunlight. "A perfect morning for a jaunt," remarked a fellow standing nearby who had been down at Pensacola doing his bit to burn gasoline in the air for Uncle Sam.

More monotony, 11:30. Crash, a series of yells and back went the eyes to the Westworth building. A half-pane of glass was descending on to the heads of the crowd on the sidewalk. At least a thousand individual yells went up while that glass was coming down from the fifth story where it had been accidentally knocked out by workmen, until it landed in the crowd. There followed a period of suspense. A policeman jumped up on top of a tunnel entrance and investigated. Evidently there had been sufficient warning and the glass had done no damage, but it provided one more item of excitement.

11:40. Then the airplane came into view again and he was greeted like an old friend. Close behind it, three other machines of the same type. Evidently the day had been his reception and brought some peace to enjoy it. The quarter hour passed for fully 10 minutes, came together in battle formation, dispersed, flew in ascending circles, one above the other and then for a final, executed a few nose-dives. Nothing thrilling or dangerous, just safe and sane activities, as much enjoyed by the crowd as by the aviators themselves.

President Coming
12 o'clock noon. A series of whistles from the direction of the pier. The crowd shifted to the other leg and the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell thought of lunch. That was because he was ordinary. Your real Bostonian thought of the splendid dignity of the occasion. The president coming at high noon.

Twenty minutes of expectation and then a blast from a nearby navy bugler and up near the Viaduct there came a mass of riding figures, not exactly distinct at the distance. Gradually they grew nearer, now they were actually in front of us. A squad of Boston's finest mounted policemen, behind them came a troop of cavalry—Camp Devens, somebody said.

One's eyes followed them as if drawn by magnetism. Then as the Ordinary Fellow turned his head again to see the rest of the procession, there sprang past another word will do—spot—a tall figure in light brown fur coat was standing, waving a stick hat, he turned to the left and the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell got his first glimpse of Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States. The presidential teeth were prominent, but not intrusive. The president's face is not half so angular as one thinks from the pictures. He was much stouter than the Ordinary Fellow had expected. Looking to the left and right and waiting the shining silk hat. The crowd roared and somebody said: "There's the old boy!" Mrs. Wilson was sitting at his left, smiling behind a mass of American beauties. Then the car sped past, altogether too soon and the last impression the Ordinary Fellow got was a mass of white hair on the back of the president's head.

There followed a line of automobiles in which there were few people that the fellow from outside Boston knew. In seven minutes the parade was over and then one was jammed wherever the crowd wanted you to go.

But what did anybody care? He had seen the president at close range and the world was serene. So the Ordinary Fellow from Lowell walked on and thought happy thoughts about the part Lowell had done in the war and what an impressive and privileged thing it was to serve a man like the president, whom he had just seen.

85,000 CAPTURED HUN HELMETS AT HOBOKEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Eighty-five thousand captured German helmets sent to this country by Gen. Pershing for Victory Liberty loan advertising are now in a huge pile at Hoboken, N. J. Government lawyers are trying to find some statute under which the hats may be given away. At first the war department said the loan managers' plan for using the helmets as prizes for the best records in each district could not be carried out because the government by law was forbidden from giving away materials. Then Frank R. Wilson, director of loan publicity, thought of an old law permitting the government to give away "munitions of no value." Now war department lawyers are checking up on the law.

Meanwhile souvenir hunters from Hoboken are nibbling into the pile of helmets without awaiting the lawyers' decision, according to advices received here.

SCHOOL TEACHERS ARE EXEMPT FROM TAXES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Thousands of public school teachers are exempt from income taxes on their salaries as teachers, according to an explanation today by the internal revenue bureau in clarification of its recent announcement that salaries of all officers and employees of state, county, city or other municipal or local governments are not taxable. It is explained that this applies to teachers providing they receive pay from a public source and not from a private school. It also applies to policemen, firemen and other public employees.

The exemption was made in the tax law, but doubt over the precise meaning prompted the interpretation from the revenue bureau.

TO ERADICATE HOODLUM KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 25.—At the request of the local government, the Rockefeller institute has sent Dr. Powell Gardner here to direct the work of eradicating the hoodlums. A recent census shows that fully 40 per cent of the population is suffering from the disease.

NERVOUSNESS ON THE DECLINE

Doctors Encouraged, They
Hold Out Hope for All

"Nothing wrong but my nerves." We hear it at home, at work and everywhere. Certainly, nervousness is a disease. A man or woman might better have a broken leg than a shattered, run-down nervous system.

Overwork and worry drains the nerve cells and centers of all their strength and vitality, then you get four sleepless nights, poor blood, nervousness, and fear. The better doctors of today know just what to do in cases of this kind. A few weeks' use of Phosphated Iron rarely fails to strengthen and feed the Phosphated Iron nerve center.

Phosphated Iron certainly does take hold. The way the majority of patients come back is remarkable.

What a change in appearance, too. The cheeks become filled out and flushed with the healthy, rosy glow of good, pure, red ironized blood can give you sparkle, their step has the spring and vigor of youth and their whole system seems to be alive with energy and good spirits.

Mr. Nervous Man or Woman, Phosphated Iron will do all this for you if you will give it a chance. Do not drag around all in and half dead another day when help is so near. Get busy and be a live one once again.

To insure doctors and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow anyone to give you pills or tablets. Buy on capsules.

NEW GERMAN ARMY

Conscription Plan Abandoned

—Voluntary Recruiting To
Form National Guard

BERLIN, Monday, Feb. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The Conservative press laments the passing of the old imperial army, which will become a thing of the past when the Weimar assembly, perhaps this week, adopts the national defense measure. This bill provides for the organization of a national guard composed of one brigade for each former army corps. Conscription will be abandoned, according to the terms of the bill and voluntary recruiting will be conducted by a central bureau.

At present, uniformed stations are receiving soldiers, being supported out of private funds.

Police Court News Continued

Was at her work in the spinning room of the Appleton Manufacturing Co. yesterday morning when John, who had formerly been an employee in the room, dropped in and made his way over to her. He tried to kiss her, Elizabeth said, and she ran down the room with John at her heels, holding a knife in his hand.

John was then called upon to give his version of the affair. John readily admitted that he was at one time an inmate of the Tewksbury infirmary, but emphatically affirmed that the officials at the institution had the wrong idea altogether about his mental condition, for to use his own words, "a stouter man never walked on two feet." John also explained that he is an inventor. Yes, sir, a real live inventor. He recently perfected his plans for a new model of aeroplane, which, he claims, will revolutionize aerial warfare as it is conducted today. John recently offered his invention to the United States government, and although the assistant-general wrote him that the government had not found his invention practicable, still, he averred, he has not yet given up all hope.

But to return to John's love affair, he denied that he had pulled a knife on Elizabeth although he readily admitted that he had tried to kiss her. "But you can't blame a man for wanting to kiss a pretty little girl like her," he stated, and this was his sole defense.

He was found guilty by Judge Enright and the case ordered continued for one week, bail being set at $500.

Manslaughter Charge

Manuel Pettorillo of Lawrence was called on continuance on a complaint charging him with manslaughter in the death of Carl E. Friberg of this city, who was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant on Bridge street on the afternoon of Jan. 17. Friberg died at St. John's hospital several days after. As the medical examiner's report indicated that no inquest was necessary owing to the fact that it was clear that Friberg's injuries and not caused or contributed to his death, the defendant was found not guilty and the case dismissed.

Mohammed's Razor

Mustapha Mohammed and his trusty razor occupied considerable of the court's time this morning, he being present on a complaint charging him with assault with a dangerous weapon on his shopmate, Hussam Osman.

Hussam told the court that he had met the defendant on his way home from work shortly after 5 o'clock on the evening of Feb. 14, and that the latter had said: "I am going to kill you with this razor." Then, to use the complainant's words, "He did his best to carve me up so that I couldn't work any more." Seven deep slashes across the face and body were the result of the defendant's attack, which necessitated several stitches and also several days in the hospital for him.

Defendant stated that he could not remember anything about the affair, but as another man employed at the plant, who had witnessed the affair, was present and corroborated Hussam's story, his lack of memory failed to convince the court of his innocence and he was ordered to serve three months in the house of correction.

"I stole the brass to keep my children from going to bed hungry that night," said the defendant.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2. and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist, 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle, and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To aid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CHINO-JAPANESE

CASE TAKEN UP

Copies of All Secret Agreements Between Two Nations Sent to Paris

All Have Been Laid Before
Council of Great Powers

PERKIN, Sunday, Feb. 23.—(By the Associated Press) The foreign office yesterday dispatched a cable message to the Chinese delegation at the peace conference in Paris enumerating the Chino-Japanese agreements of which copies have been telegraphed the delegation. These, in addition to the agreements relating to Japan's 21 demands and the Chino-Japanese military conventions, copies of which the delegation took with it when it left for Paris, comprise all the secret agreements between China and Japan, the message sets forth. The foreign office cable, as given out here, reads: "With regard to the Chino-Japanese agreement, you took away with you copies relating to the 21 demands and the Chino-Japanese military convention. The foreign office has already telegraphed the text, firstly, of the Kirm forest and mines loan; secondly, the draft of the agreements for the Manchurian and Mongolian railway loans; thirdly, the draft of the agreements for the Kwantung-Shanhai and Tsinan-Shanghai railway loans; fourthly, the notes exchanged regarding the co-operative working of the Kiao Chan-Tsinan railway."

"Besides these there are no other secret agreements nor are there any secret treaties of any kind. "Please disclose all these documents to the peace conference as circumstances permit and not according to your discretion."

SECRET AGREEMENTS BEFORE COUNCIL

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The Chino-Japanese agreements of Sept. 1915, supplementing the treaty and notes of May, 1915, concerning the disposition of the German rights in Shantung province, are now before the council of the great powers at the peace conference. Both the Chinese and the Japanese delegates declare that no documents have been withheld from the peace conference which is expected shortly to pass upon the disposition of the former German holdings in Shan Tung province.

CHINA GRATEFUL TO PRES. WILSON

PERKIN, Friday, Feb. 21.—(By the Associated Press) "China is very grateful to President Wilson and the United States delegates to the peace conference for the help they have extended our delegates in Paris," said Premier Chin Hun-Hsun today. "The whole Chinese nation wishes to thank the United States, through the Associated Press."

Describing the newly organized Chinese league of nations society, he said its object was to arouse the interest of the people in the league and give all possible assistance to the Chinese delegates at Paris. Several weeks ago, he said, the Chinese government dispatched a telegram to President Wilson, setting forth the readiness of China to participate in the league, and now he expects the Chinese parliament to telegraph an expression of its support to the organization.

The premier said that he was much gratified over the election of Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to the United States, to a place on the commission for a league of nations and added that China was ready at the proper moment to take whatever part or undertake any duty that might be assigned to her.

"China intends to publish all secret agreements made during the war, even commercial engagements," he said. The Chinese delegates to the peace conference were urged to make public these documents before the departure of President Wilson from Paris, he remarked.

Of course, he continued, China expects the powers to disclose all secret agreements they have among themselves concerning China. No trouble over this step is expected, he said.

Chin Hun-Hsun said he was hopeful regarding a solution to the problems arising from China's internal difficulties and believed that a satisfactory arrangement would be reached at the coming conference at Shanghai. The interview was granted in a room which was formerly the stage of the dowager empress' theatre.

night," was the defence offered by Joseph Vincent when he was called in answer to the charge of larceny of 26 pounds of brass and 10 pounds of wire from the Bay State railway. Vincent admitted that his weekly wages averaged about $24 a week, but added that sometimes this was not enough to go around, as he had a large family to support. A fine of $15 was imposed.

Wicker Gets Decision
Sam Wicker and Stanley Marowski met each other on Middlesex street yesterday afternoon and after a few words Sam sent over a beautiful left hook which landed squarely on the point of Stanley's jaw, sending him down for the count and then some. This morning Sam admitted to Judge Enright that he had been the power behind the punch that had laid Stanley low, but said that he had done it because Stanley insulted him. A fine of $20 was imposed in this case.

James Kennedy, for drunkenness, was given one month in jail.

Several offenders drew down sentences to the state farm, and three others paid small fines. Seven releases were issued by the probation officer.

Through an unintentional error in yesterday's Sun the announcement of the board of trade's annual theme contest for eighth and ninth grade school pupils of all schools in the city was made to report the subject for themes as "Who Wounded Lowell and Why?"
